JAPANESE TROOPS UNLIKELY TO INVADE PEKING--TIENTSIN AREA

FRENCH ESPIONAGE IN ITALY

Prof. Eydoux On Trial
In Rome.

OBTAINED MILITARY INFORMATION.

(Reuter's Special Service)

Rome, Yesterday.
Professor Eydoux, the well-known head of the Ecole Polytechnique, the famous Paris military academy, and his secretary, Mlle. Bonnefond, indicted on a charge of espionage, will be tried by a special tribunal of the Defence of the State, to-morrow.

It is alleged that they arrived at Treviso last August and made excursion along the Jugo-Slavia frontier. Their conduct aroused suspicions and they were arrested on September 4. It is stated that they were in possession of photographic material, field-glasses, maps, sketches, bridges and roads.

It is also alleged that Professor Eydoux confessed that he came to Italy for the purpose of getting information interesting to France from a military point of view. Mlle. Bonnefond declared that she had nothing to do with the alleged activities of the Professor, but admitted that she participated in the excursions and took photographs.

The charge of espionage involves a penalty of 15 years imprisonment in extreme cases, but it is understood Professor Eydoux's offence is not grave and that a short sentence is anticipated. — Reuter.

AN INTERNATIONAL STEEL CARTEL.

Renewed By European Nations.

Brussels, Yesterday.
A decision to renew the international steel-cartel for five years on the basis of the production of the first six months of 1932 has been reached as a result of negotiations between the manufacturers' associations of France, Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg.

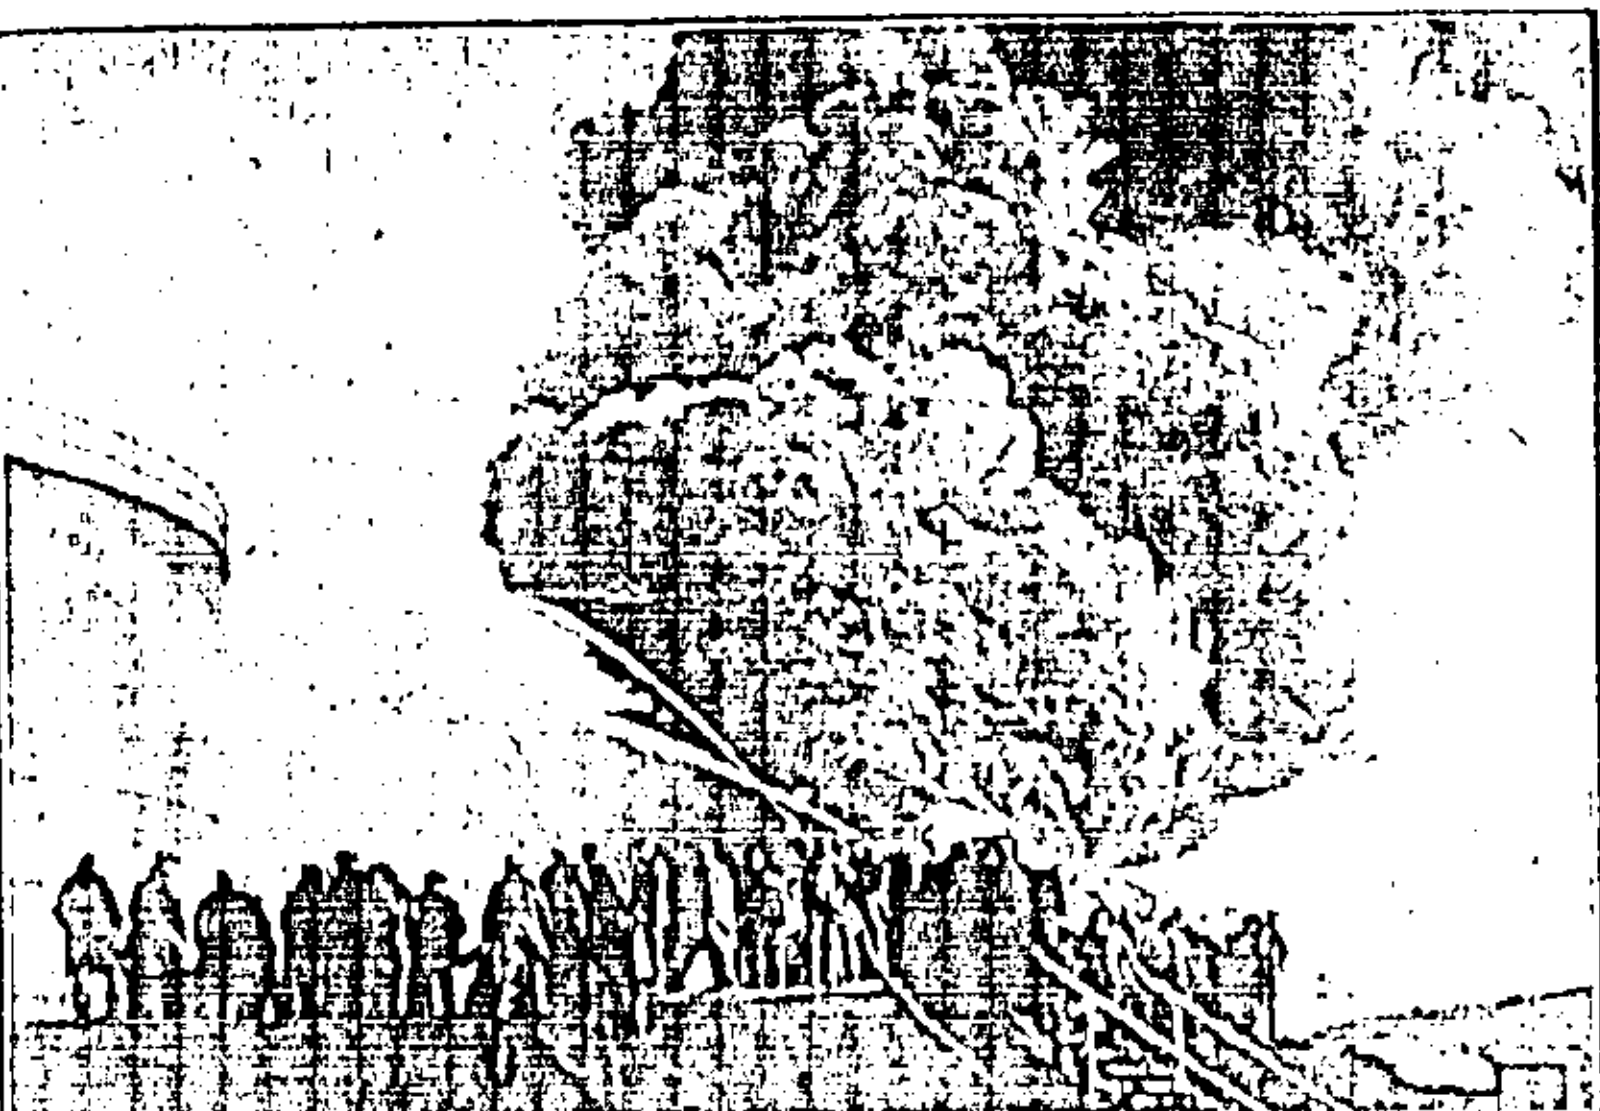

An agreement was also reached on the quantities of production, but the final constitution of the cartel is dependent upon the Belgian cartel, as one Belgian factory is holding aloof. — Reuter.

A tank containing 84,000 gallons of motor spirit exploded and burst into flames at Ellesmere Port on the Manchester Ship Canal, on the afternoon of Jan. 4th. The explosion occurred in the Shell Mex and British Petroleum installation. Photograph taken after the fire had been raging 20 hours. — (S. & G.)

9 PATIENTS BURNED IN U.S. NURSING HOME

Farmer Charged With Incendiarism.

HEROIC RESCUE EFFORTS OF NURSES.

(Reuter's Special Service)

Cleveland, Ohio, Yesterday.

Despite the heroic efforts of nurses, nine psychopathic patients lost their lives in a fire which completely gutted a Nursing Home in the suburbs.

Terrible scenes were witnessed as the fire spread rapidly through the building, cutting off some of the patients from all means of escape.

The Superintendent of the Home alleges that the fire is due to incendiarism and has asked for the arrest of a neighbouring farmer with whom he had a dispute.

GANDHI'S WIFE ARRESTED

Bombay, Yesterday.
Mrs. Gandhi, wife of Mahatma Gandhi, has been arrested at the village of Ras. While a prisoner she attended to her husband during his "fast" last Autumn and she was released shortly after that.

She was then engaged in the work of securing untouchables for entry into the Guruvayoor Temple, South India, and went recently to Ahmedabad.

She left for the interior of Gujarat on February 2 with a group of women followers with the avowed intention of organizing women's Congress demonstrations. — Reuter.

Sacrificed.

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, Yesterday.

The Wharf, Sutton Courtney, the beautiful Berkshire home of the late Earl of Oxford and Asquith, has been sold by his widow, who is unable to afford the cost of upkeep.

The purchaser was an estate agent who paid less than £7,000 for the property. The Wharf cost more than double that amount.

WISE SPENDING IN BRITAIN

Building Loans For Improvements.

SCHEME WILL STIMULATE INDUSTRY.

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, Yesterday.

The British Government's appeal for wise spending has found expression in the decision of many big Building Societies, who offer members and other house-owners loans on specially advantageous terms for repairs, decorations and improvements to houses and property.

It is hoped that the scheme, which is fully approved by the Government, will stimulate trade and industry and lead to an immediate decrease in unemployment.

EMPIRE MARKETING BOARD.

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, Yesterday.

Reuter learns that a Committee arranged by the Ottawa Conference, will consider the future of the Empire Marketing Board, as well as similar Empire bodies, will meet in London on February 14.

The venue for the discussions will be Canada House, where the High Commissioner for Canada, the Hon. Mr. G. H. Ferguson, will open the proceedings.

The Committee consists mainly of Government officials intimately associated with the work of the Empire Marketing Board.

FOREIGN INTERESTS INVOLVED

PREPARATIONS FOR JEHOL ATTACK

FIFTH CHINESE OFFENSIVE AT CHIUMENKOW

MANY KILLED AFTER THREE HOURS'
HEAVY FIGHTING.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

No final decision has yet been reached regarding the commencement of operations in Jehol, but the hopes for a peaceful settlement at the situation are practically exhausted. Consequently, the Kwangtung Army are making necessary preparations in case military action is necessitated, according to a War Office spokesman's statement to Reuter in connection with Mr. Araki's recent statement in the Japanese Diet.

Declining for military reasons to commit himself to any definite statement regarding the likelihood of operations extending into the Peking and Tientsin area, the spokesman declared that in drawing up plans for action, the Kwangtung Army were bearing in mind the necessity of avoiding the endangering of foreign lives and interests in North China.

Japanese reports from Chinchow state that for the fifth time in eight days Chinese troops have attacked Chiumenkow. Early this morning an attempt was made to envelop a small Japanese garrison. The attackers were finally repulsed after three hours' heavy fighting, leaving many dead. — Reuter.

Sir Miles Proposes Conference.

GENEVA PESSIMISM.

Geneva, Yesterday.

A local paper states that Sir Miles Lampson, the British Minister to China, who is at present at Nanking, has proposed to the Chinese Government, a round-table conference which might endeavour to find a direct settlement between the Chinese and Japanese.

Confirmation of the report is obtainable in any quarter here, however, and the general impression is that it is completely unfounded.

The feeling in the League circles and among members of the Committee of Nineteen, and all other interested quarters is that the move forward to Paragraph Four, Article Fifteen, of the League Covenant is now inevitable. To-morrow's meeting of the Committee of Nineteen will consider the new Japanese proposals submitted on Wednesday by Mr. Matsuo to Sir Eric Drummond.

It is confirmed that these make a final concession regarding the wording in the final paragraph of the Exposé de Motifs. Nevertheless the general feeling is pessimistic.

All believe that conciliation is dead and nothing can be gained by prolonging the discussion around the procedure.

A strong impression prevails that the recommendations will not merely endorse the Lytton Report, but constitute something in the nature of a verdict. It is believed that America will not take any initiative beyond endorsing the report of the Committee of Nineteen, if, as it seems likely, it meets the American views. — Reuter.

Panchen Lama Returning To Tibet.

Nanking, Yesterday.
Much significance is attached to reports that Panchen Lama is returning to Tibet to-day. (Continued at foot of next column.)

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT MAY RESIGN

Divided Opinions On Possibility.

PROBABLE SUCCESSORS
MENTIONED.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Reports from Tokyo indicate the possibility of the Saito Government resigning after the current session of the Diet, "for various reasons." Speculation is rife in political circles concerning the successor to Count Saito. Among those mentioned are Mr. R. Suzuki, President of Seiyukai, General Ugaki, Governor-General of Korea, and Baron Hirayama, Vice President of the Privy Council.

While Mr. Saito's resignation is considered likely in some quarters, others believe that he will remain in office until the "emergency period," for which his Government was formed, expires.

So far, there is no official intimation of his intentions. — Reuter.

Hong Kong Visitors Entertained.

Canton, Yesterday.
The Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, Colonial Secretary of the Hong Kong Government, accompanied by Mrs. Southern arrived here this morning on a sight-seeing trip. Sir Williams Shenton and his daughter left Hong Kong on the 10 p.m. boat to-day and will arrive here to-morrow.

The Hong Kong visitors called on General Chan Chai-long, Commander-in-Chief of the First Group Army, and other high officials. To-morrow night they will be entertained at dinner by Mr. Lin Yun-kai, Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government.

The civic improvements here made a deep impression on the visitors, who went round the city, including a visit to the imposing Chungshan Memorial Hall. — Central Press.

PATRIOTISM SWINDLE IN NANKING.

Subscriptions For Volunteers Solicited.

Nanking, Yesterday.
Three officials were arrested on Friday afternoon when police and troops raided the headquarters of an organization which it is claimed was soliciting donations on behalf of the Volunteers in Manchuria. The officials were handed over to the District Court on a charge of swindling the public under the guise of patriotism. — Reuter.

SOUTH - WEST TROOPS READY TO MOBILIZE

Canton Urges Resistance Against Japan.

TSAI TING-KAI VOLUNTEERS TO LEAD VANGUARD.

Canton, Yesterday.
Plans mapped out by the South-west military leaders concerning resistance against Japan and suppression of Communists are being dispatched to Nanking through General Huang Shao-hsiung, Minister of Interior, who is proceeding northward from Hong Kong to-day.

Leaders here hope that the plans will be adopted by the Central authorities, though they incline to believe that Nanking's talk of resistance is done mostly by mere declarations.

However, the troops of Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Fukien are in constant readiness for mobilization and will start out for the North as soon as orders have been received from Nanking.

General Tsal Ting-kai, Commander of the 19th Route Army, left here for Fukien where he will get ready to send his famous army to the North. In the event of mobilization, General Tsal petitions that he be given command of the vanguard.

The National Government, it was divulged to-day, has sent a vague and evasive reply to the telegram from Canton, dated January 17, stating that if Nanking is still undetermined to resist Japanese aggression, the South-west will assume the burden of defending the country against Japanese inroads. The reply is deemed rather disappointing. — Central Press.

ENGLAND'S PROBABLE TEST TEAM

Bowes May Displace
Voece On Friday.

QUEENSLAND COLLAPSE
SENSATIONALLY.

Umpiring Incident.

Brisbane, Yesterday.

The M.C.C. fielding the England XI for next Friday, dismissed Queensland for 201 runs and scored six runs without loss before the close of play to-day.

The weather was fine and the wicket looked in good condition when Queensland commenced batting this morning after winning the toss before 5,000 spectators.

The M.C.C. are playing the probable England eleven for the fourth Test which will commence on the same ground next Friday. Mitchell, F. R. Brown, the Nawab of Patnauli, Voece, Duckworth and Tate were dropped.

The England eleven will probably be comprised of the following:—D. R. Jardine (captain), R. E. S. Wyatt, G. O. Allen, Sutcliffe, Hammond, Leyland, Larwood, Ames, Paynter, Bowes and Verity.

Catch Disallowed

At lunch Queensland had lost one wicket in collecting 74 runs, but after the interval an amazing change came over the game, the home side collapsing for 201 runs. W. Cook (53) and J. Andrews (45) were associated in a big partnership, but after their dismissal J. L. Lister (67) was the only batsman to offer any resistance to Larwood (2 for 24), Bowes (3 for 43) and Verity (2 for 49).

The M.C.C. scored 6 runs without loss before the close of play.

The peaceful atmosphere was disturbed when R. K. Oxenham, a Test candidate, hit a ball from Larwood into Allen's hands at shortstop. It appeared a perfectly fair catch, but Oxenham, to the surprise of the M.C.C. team, remained at the wicket.

The players appealed, but the umpire did not allow the catch. Allen seemed flustered, and play was held up for a few moments. The umpire later said that Larwood obstructed his view. — Reuter.

BANDIT ROUND-UP CONTINUES.

Canton District Now Peaceful.

Canton, Yesterday.

The East River valley and southern districts are enjoying peace and order with the elimination of bandits who are either being killed or captured by the garrison forces. Chan Fan-ju, a notorious bandit leader, in Yew Ping district on the East River valley, was caught and executed.

Over 40 bandits were captured at Wu Wah, another nearby district, by the military and subsequently executed. Similarly the model division penetrated into a strong bandit den known as "Bamboo Forest" in Southern Kwangtung and rounded up a large number of brigands. Others were killed while fighting with the Government troops.

As most places in the Province are now peaceful, it is possible for the people in Canton and outposts to proceed to the interior. Likewise, the flow of trade can go on without fear of interference by the bandits. — Central Press.

Sir Charles Oman's Record

Sir Charles Oman, M.P., tall, burly, with white hair and a rubicund, smiling face, a small pair of old steel spectacles perched on the end of his nose, has a keen sense of humour and a passion for quoting history.He made a typical speech recently when, under the ten-minutes rule, he was given leave to introduce a Bill "to abate the damage and danger caused to the King's liques by motor vehicles too large, too heavy, and driven at excessive speed."After his speech inveighing against speed, when, according to custom, he should have made a slow and stately progress to the table with his dummy Bill, he broke all the Parliamentary speed records by rushing up the floor as if he were catching a train. He did not stop to bow twice, as he should have done, nor did he announce the names of the backers of his Bill.No ten-minutes Bill has started its Parliamentary career amid such hilarity and with such celerity.

Mr. Maughan at a Trial

Since Mr. Somerset Maughan wrote his famous story "The Letter" he has shown considerable interest in murder trials.The novelist is now following with close interest the evidence brought at the Paris Assize Court against the young Frenchman Guy Davin, who is charged with the particularly brutal murder of his American friend, Richard Wall.Recently Mr. Maughan occupied one of the seats in court reserved for friends of the judges, and listened to the proceedings with marked attention.

Toscanini and Menuhin

Quickly following the announcement of Sir Edward Elgar's generous compliment to Yehudi Menuhin in promising to go to Paris to conduct his concerto, comes the news that Toscanini travelled 600 miles to hear the young violinist make his debut in Milan.A relay of the Reveller's Dance Orchestra from the Hong Kong

the intervals recorded music will be broadcast from the Studio.)

pean programme are kindly supplied by Messrs. Anderson Music

ted himself Yehudi's cicerone in a Cynical Parents.

Diplomacy, that home of cynicism and lazeur, still provides the world with many of its best stories. Here is one, illustrating the disillusionment of the modern parent, which is going the round of the London Diplomatic Corps.A distinguished Frenchman, the father of six sons, met a friend whom he had not seen since his school days. The friend asked dutifully after the great man's family."My first son," said the statesman, "is a diplomat. The second is also a diplomat.""The third is a banker. The fourth is in prison, too.""The fifth has the Legion of Honour. The sixth never saw the war, either."

Steel Chief's Visit.

Mr. Myron C. Taylor, chief of the United States Steel Corporation, has arrived in London in an optimistic mood.When Mr. Schwab, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, arrived here a few weeks ago he said his visit was a "personal" one, though he might, if opportunity arose, consider business matters. Mr. Taylor was more candid. "I am over here," he said,
"to feel the pulse of Europe so far as business—and my own branch of it particularly—is concerned."There are a few signs of trade quickening, and we are all hoping and looking forward to a return to prosperity in the near future."Mr. Taylor's visit to England will last a week; then he will continue his investigations in France.

British Development.

By putting two and two together it is possible to arrive at a closer definition of Mr. Taylor's object in visiting Europe at the present moment.He wants to find out whether the shrivelling of the European consumption of American steel can be checked.Furthermore, it has reached American ears that the British steel industry is on the eve of big developments. Mr. Taylor is known to be very curious about them.

A Transformed Library.

The London Library will be completely transformed by rebuilding operations. Eighteenth century buildings just behind it, which workmen are now demolishing, will be replaced by storerooms, offices, and a large "art hall" housing all works of interest to artists, such as the complete pictorial catalogues of the Pierpont-Morgan collection.The old reading-room, which has counted among its regular visitors so many Royal personages, from Napoleon III. to the present King as Prince of Wales is to be almost doubled in size.

Sir George Prescott

Sir George Prescott, who was married recently at Christ Church, Down-street, to Mrs. Melcer, a charming American widow, did his military in the 2nd Life Guards, and used to be a first-class polo player. He also takes a keen interest in boxing, and for many years has been on the committee of the National Sporting Club.Sir George is a very keen, albeit not quite a first-class golfer. Before the war he used to play a great deal with the late Lord Ath-lumney, who, although no "fier" himself, had occasional flashes worthy of Bobby Jones at his best!Law Takes Precedence.
There are one or two details in the Law Courts ceremony of presents the new Lord Mayor to H.M. judges to indicate that there the law has priority over the City.At the Bar of the Court the City Mace is held reversed, and the emblematical sword is pointed downwards.Moreover, the Lord Mayor is covered when being presented and during the oration of the Recorder, but he removes his hat when being addressed by the Lord Chief Justice.Here also the black cap worn by all the judges loses its ominous significance and becomes a part of the judges' ceremonial outfit.

Frocks For The Dance Colours That Stand Out In A Crowd MANNEQUIN HELP

NOTHING is more helpful to the young than to see dresses worn, and to observe which styles will dance well and the colours on the mannequin who displays them.

If she herself be dark, she will notice the charms of orange, red, the brilliant sequined variety, black, white and turquoise. If fair, it would be wisdom to notice that fair hair can look marvellous with red or green or yellow; in fact, all those colours that fashion in older days gave to the brunette.

There are pit-falls in colour-schemes. If a dress allowance is curtailed, it should be realised that certain shades are only successful in good fabrics. Black velvet, so lovely on young people, is a sure standby this winter. It is becoming to all, and is produced cheaply and in good quality. The velvet vogue is wonderful.

A fair girl who looks well in wine or green must give a higher price, or else choose another material. The "waxed" laces and nets are charming for dancing, especially with the full godet skirt finished by frills or ruffles. Then there are the new range of printed phantoms, crepes, which are youthful, and can be interesting if one of the colours is introduced in scarf or flower.

The dancing dress, like many things in the world of fashion, should have certain definite points that make for distinction.

It is easier for the town girl to gain experience in what makes for success in a model than it is for her country cousin, who seldom mixes in really large crowds. It is difficult for the latter to visualise that her pretty, simple and dainty georgette frock in white, or a pale shade that suits her, will be entirely lost in a massed collection. In other words, the prettiest debutante will not see unless the special colour or style of her gown is one that arrests attention.

This is where the cult of the ready-to-wear is helpful. The big dress houses and all up-to-date private dressmakers select certain easy-to-wear (and very becoming) models from an exclusive house, copying them in distinctive colours and in fairly inexpensive fabrics. Therefore, it is unnecessary for the modern girl to attempt to appear in the normal home-made affair. It is easy and not expensive for her to go straight to a good house and have her frock to wear the same evening. She further gets the chance of seeing a varied collection, and trying them in well-lighted salons. Even if she can only afford one model, she will also gain inspiration for "doing-up" old ones when she gets home!

The Popular Coral.
Coral-colour is a favourite for the party, and this is good in net, lace, or georgette, providing two shades, light and dark, are cleverly mixed. A deeper sash and flower, accentuating a definite colour-scheme, should be introduced. Coral, too, goes well with hunting-pink, so does orange and brown. Black is best when relieved with white, or emerald-green; though a becoming black satin model has bands of salmon-pink on the corsage.

For a ball, I think a strong one-colour scheme is more distinctive; always providing the gown is not made of indifferent material. All-black, or all-white, is cheaper from this point of view.

The debutante rarely looks her best in white, unless a specialised model, designed by a great artist. Yellow is charming at a hunt ball, and so is the new purple, but it can only be successful with very fair or white hair. Blues and pinks are generally lost in a crowd, unless they are of a crude and unbecoming flamboyance.

Few girls can wear sequins, which do make a certain appeal at Christmas-time, on account of their sparkling qualities. It is rather a question of price. I am a great admirer of the "massed" sequined frock in gold or silver, or other deep rich effects; but scantily scintillating beads on a coarse net are terribly dowdy and elderly looking.

Velvet and satin are always good; shrimp-pink crepe stands out well, especially with the fringe of ostrich feather and a matching cape bordered in similar fashion to wear when not dancing, and still more attractive if we have been given an ostrich fan to match among our Christmas gifts.

Amongst old-world revivals we must not forget the quaint taffeta frock, with its wide godet effects, helped by bands of painted chine-silk, but for a ball the bright pink or striped darker taffetas will be the smartest choice. Taffetas and failles have the advantage of being a hard-wearing proposition for the dance.

Fashion Never Stands Still

Survey Of Shades And Fabrics For 1933.

MANY people have an idea that there is a pause in the "World of Dress," but fashion to-day is ever on the alert. Both buyers and manufacturers have been fully occupied for some time preparing for the modes of 1933. There are, indeed, many subtle changes in fashion, some of which are almost unseen, except by the wary and experienced eye. An inch or two on or off a skirt, or the width and position of a sash, the shape of the sleeves, and, above all, the ingratiating ways in which the very new colours are tried out are all factors in the 1933 styles.

The use of contrasting materials will continue. A dress of plain jersey in a pale shade, for instance, is shown with a short coat of figured-cloth or ermine-velvet in black, with cap to tone. A similar idea is worked into the early New Year's models, inasmuch as sleeves and neck-decoration are of fanciful fabric, worn with a perfectly plain face-cloth frock.

Fur and Velvet.
Capes, too, are of various patterned materials—which soon will take the place of fur.

The very exclusive dresses are demanding fur or velvet linings to plain cloth coats, with velvet collars. They are smart, these well-tailored slim coats; some are lined warmly with silk-and-velvet, but a thin felt is preferable for the real cold.

Fur is used for collar, cuffs, and trimmings sometimes, but such furs must be of good quality, such as astrakhan, broadtail, or fox.

White "caracul" often trims a white figured cloth cape, as well as the coat-frock beneath. Buttons, too, can continue in their decorative way.

Many of the most interesting capes can be worn either way—back or front—both for day and evening, in cloth or velvet.

COLONY RUGBY TEAM BACK AGAIN

Splendid Hospitality In The North.

LAMMERT A FAVOURITE.

The Colony Rugby fifteen arrived back in the Colony yesterday morning by the Empress of Japan after an all-conquering visit to Shanghai.

All the players spoke highly of the splendid hospitality they were accorded in the northern city and of the high standard of sportsmanship which prevailed in both the games they played in.

Geoffrey Lammert proved a warm favourite being the senior member of the side and one of the most stylish players to visit Shanghai with an Interport team.

At the Interport dinner Col. Monck of the U. S. Marines in a brief speech said that the Hong Kong team which beat the Marines would make a wonderful showing if they could be converted to the American code.

Those comprising the Hong Kong team, which beat Shanghai by 16 pts. to 5 and the U. S. Marines by 16 pts. to 3, were as follows:

J. P. Whitham; J. J. Ferguson; W. H. B. Rigg; R. H. Griffiths; G. P. Lammert; M. W. Turner; J. A. R. Selby (captain); W. F. Kerr; W. E. Peers; E. F. Walkden; I. H. Bradford; R. I. Cherrill; A. P. Hall Thompson; D. McLellan (vice-captain); J. C. Millar; and W. R. Andrews.

ST. JOSEPH'S SOCCER TEAM FOR MANILA

C.P.S. Guarantee Landing Formalities.

PASSPORT HITCH OVERCOME.

The Canadian Pacific Steamship Company have guaranteed the formalities of the disembarkation of the St. Joseph's football team in Manila, and the party left by the Empress of Japan last night.

Mr. A. Goldenberg, manager of the team, sent the sixteen passports of the team to the Philippine Immigration authorities, and up to the sailing of the Japan last night had received no reply from Manila to his cable.

In a statement to the Sunday Herald last night Mr. Goldenberg said that the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company had wired Manila, and were undertaking all arrangements for the team.

The following comprised the St. Joseph's team which will take part in exhibition matches during Carnival week:

R. Marques; S. Souza; L. Gomes; N. Beltrao; V. Costa; I. Fernandez; A. Ward; D. Leonard; A. V. Gosano (captain); B. Gosano and Sabhan. Reserves:—E. Lawrence (back); F. G. Victor (half back) and L. Souza (forward).

PAST BEAT PRESENT.

SUNDERLAND GROUND SALE POSTPONED.

Issue of New Debentures.

London, Jan. 10.

Directors of the Sunderland F. C. decided this week to ask the Sunderland Town Council to postpone for one month consideration of the proposed purchase by the Corporation of Roker Park, Sunderland's ground, for a sum of £34,000.

As an alternative plan to the sale of their ground, the club board are obtaining promises towards the issue of £35,000 of debentures, and already promises amounting to £22,000 have been received. The Transport Committee of the Sunderland Corporation is proposing to invest £5,000.

PEARCE, MUNRO AND MARTON THE TRIO

NOMANBHOY DISMISSES NAVY FOR 20

K.C.C. IN GRIM STRUGGLE

BRILLIANT BOWLING FIGURES FEATURE DAY OF LOW SCORING.

F. D. PEREIRA, THE I.R.C. INTERPORT FAST BOWLER, REGISTERED THE FIRST "HAT TRICK" IN THE PREMIER LEAGUE THIS SEASON WHEN HE DISMISSED T. A. PEARCE, A. K. MUNRO AND O. E. C. MARTON WITH SUCCESSIVE DELIVERIES ON THE CLUB GROUND YESTERDAY.

Pereira concluded the innings with an analysis of 5 for 13 while A. R. Minu secured 3 for 19 to dismiss the Club for 47. A. C. Beck, however, was in good form, and the champions had 7 wickets down for 42 runs before the winning hit was made. Beck claimed 5 for 16, but the Indians won by three wickets. In the junior division the Club, with one wicket in hand, required 22 runs for victory when stumps were drawn.

If it had not have been for A. H. Madar, hero of the May Interport against Shanghai, the I. R. C. would probably have lost their first premier league game in three seasons. Madar went in with the score at 30 for 2, and was undefeated at the close of the innings with 15 scored out of 41.

Pereira bowled four overs without success before he secured his "hat trick," and at one period of the innings had the following amazing figures:

O. M. R. W.

10 8 3 2

The University carried all before them in their League game against the Navy on the matting wicket at King's Park.

A. T. Nomanbhoy, last year's skipper, took 6 wickets for 10 runs to dismiss the Navy for 20 runs, the lowest score in the last ten years! He took a wicket in each over.

The University easily scored the necessary runs, winning by 9 wickets to record their second successive victory. The "Varsity" seconds also won to complete the "double." The Kowloon Cricket Club, most serious rivals to the champions, were given a fright at Happy Valley when they lost 7 wickets for 61 runs when requiring 101 to beat the Civil Service. E. W. Hamilton caused havoc among the earlier batsmen, but F. S. W. Smith (33) and G. C. Burnett (17) became associated in an unbroken eighth wicket partnership which yielded the necessary 41 runs for victory. E. C. Fincher, opening the innings, was last out after scoring 17 out of 61. Hamilton concluded the innings with 5 for 42 in 17 overs. Frank Goodwin, the K.C.C. skipper, captured 5 for 44 in the Valley team's innings.

The K.C.C. juniors won comfortably, F. E. Lawrence playing a captain's innings for 76. Brilliant bowling by B. R. Inance (6 for 16) dismissed the Recreation for 38 runs and enabled Craig-gower to win by 8 wickets in the junior league.

LOWER DECK AGAIN BEAT THE RADIO

Rimmer Outstanding.

MEDWAY "A" WIN OVER HERALD.

Brilliant play by Rimmer, the H.M.S. Veteran right wing, was the feature of the friendly hockey match on the Caroline Hill ground yesterday afternoon, when the Naval Lower Deck eleven registered their second win over the Radio Sports Club by a margin of 2 goals to 1.

The game was cleanly contested and was played at a fast pace throughout. For the first fifteen minutes the Lower Deck were on the offensive, good work being put in by Richardson, the skipper, and Patchitt, which led to Rimmer opening the score. The Radio then pressed, Avtar Singh played a hard game in the Radio defence.

In the second half, the Radio attacked, but Steers brought off a timely clearance. The Navy broke away, and a good forward movement resulted in Rimmer netting with a perfect shot. Towards the end, the Radio obtained their point through Avtar Singh, as the result of a penalty bully.

HALL SCORES TWICE.

At Happy Valley yesterday, H.M.S. Medway "A" eleven defeated H.M.S. Herald by two clear goals. Hall, at centre-forward, netted both goals. Oldfield and Wylie played well at back for the winners, while Noble showed fine promise.

BORDERERS WIN 6-1.

In a friendly match, at King's Park, "B" Company, South Wales Borderers defeated the Y.M.C.A. by 6 goals to 1. The soldiers led at the interval by five clear goals. G. Fowler scored the Y's solitary point.

ST. ANDREW'S TEAM.

The following will represent St. Andrew's Club in their Mamak Tournament fixture against the 20th Battery R.A. on the Marine Ground this morning at 9.30.

R. H. Wong, A. B. Hanson, E. H. P. White, E. MacNider, A. E. P. Guest, P. A. Broadbridge, R. A. Carroll, N. A. E. Mackay, E. F. Fincher, F. V. Wong and E. C. Fincher.

INDIA'S LADY CHAMPION.

Calcutta, January 13. Mrs. T. A. Duckworth is the new All-India ladies' golf champion. She won this title to-day at the first time of asking by defeating Mrs. Duncan Smith in an 18-hole final at the R.C.C.C. course. Like her husband, T. A. Duckworth, who was one of the fabled candidates for the men's golf title in Christmas week, but who was beaten by the ultimate champion, Mrs. Duckworth entered from Foxgrove Club and as she has had few opportunities of practising in comparison with most of the other competitors her win is all the more creditable.

WASP II, sailed by Major Griffin, took first place in the 8th championship race for Anker class yachts yesterday afternoon, racing home 2 minutes and 19 seconds ahead of Jan, (Capt. Krogh-Moe) from Stonecutters Island. Artemis, with Commander Drummond at the tiller, occupied third place.

Correspondence.

REFEREEING OF HOCKEY ENCOUNTER.

[To The Editor "Sunday Herald."]

Sir,—The decision of the Executive Committee of the Mamak Hockey Tournament in regard to the match last Sunday between St. Andrews and the Incognitos is that the score at the time the game was abandoned by the senior umpire should stand. One hardly needs to say that six minutes could possibly alter the score.

Furthermore, it would be interesting to know if it is in keeping with the rules of the game for a referee to call off a match for allegedly offensive remarks from a mere spectator who refuses to leave the ground. Are not the spectators allowed to express their opinions in regard to the game and a referee's decision? What about the leg theory of cricket in the Australian Tests? Do they order spectators off the ground when decisions are challenged?

Yours, etc.,

CLEMENT A. BRAGA.

Kowloon, February 4, 1933.

JARMAN BEATS LUZ AT BILLIARDS.

Highest Break of 47.

C/S. Jarman, with a score of 500, defeated J. A. da Luz (249) in the Open Billiards championship at the St. Patrick's Club last night. Jarman's highest breaks were 46 and 25.

NAVAL BOXER IN FOOTBALL SCENE.

Breaks Player's Nose During Game.

Geoffrey Dalton, a sailor boxer of some repute from the battleship Nelson, was fined £5 and bound over for 12 months at Arundel, Sussex, for going on the field at a football match and striking a player.

It was stated that the assault took place during the Arundel-Wick game at Arundel. Dalton's brother, who was keeping goal for Arundel, was charged quite fairly by Tizzard, the Wick centre-forward, and immediately afterwards Geoffrey Dalton jumped over the ropes and struck Tizzard, breaking his nose.

MAGUIRE BEATEN.

Eddie Maguire, the South African middle-weight, lost his first fight in England when he was defeated on points, over 12 rounds, at Newmarket, by Jack Casey, Sunderland, who recently fought Len Harvey to a close decision.

The verdict was badly received, even by the local crowd, who thought the South African had won handsomely on points.

LARRY GAINS WINS.

Larry Gains, the British Empire heavy-weight champion, defeated Paul Hofman, the Dutch heavy-weight champion, in the sixth round of a 12-round bout at Leeds, a towel being thrown in.

MAJOR GRIFFIN SAILS WASP II TO VICTORY

Exciting Championship Race Yesterday.

JAN COMES SECOND.

Wasp II, sailed by Major Griffin, took first place in the 8th championship race for Anker class yachts yesterday afternoon, racing home 2 minutes and 19 seconds ahead of Jan, (Capt. Krogh-Moe) from Stonecutters Island. Artemis, with Commander Drummond at the tiller, occupied third place.

All boats made a good running start in a fresh easterly wind. On the run courses diverged considerably, but the yachts fetched the Western Point of Stonecutters pretty well together, with Carpenter and La Linda in the rear. Off this point, several baffling flaws were experienced before the wind came fairly ahead to make it a dead beat homeward to the Club line.

The boats, which took a course close along the Yaumati Typhoon shelter out of the tide, gained considerably and got some strong freeing puffa so that considerable changes in the order were witnessed.

Isabel, coming up along Yaumati breakwater, at one time looked a winner, but she carried on past Hols' Wharf towards Kowloon Bay and lost her place to Wasp II, Jan and Artemis when they cut across to Kellott Island. Here they picked up a good slant, which took them nicely home on starboard tack.

OFFER TO GRIMMETT.

London, Jan. 10. The News-Chronicle stated this week that, having failed to secure the services of Don Bradman for next season, the Ramsgate Cricket Club, who are without a professional, called to Grimmett, the famous Australian bowler, an offer for his services in the Lancashire League. It is said to be the biggest offer the club has ever made.

WATSON V CHOCOLATE.

A boxing match between ex-Scamman Watson, the British feather-weight, and Kid Chocolate, for the world feather-weight title, has been voted by the New York Boxing Commission, the reason given being that Watson must first prove his ability at a minor club.

DROPPING THE PERSIAN PILOT

Shah's "Minister Of Modernisation" Teymourash And His Queer Programme

(By JOWEN TWEEDY.)

WHEN I read the news of the dismissal of M. Teymourash by the Shah of Persia I wondered how Sir John Tenniel would have handled this Middle East version of "Dropping the Pilot."

But although Shah Riza has acted with a true Hohenzollern sense of the dramatic, Teymourash, the fallen favourite, was no Bismarck, and the waters into which he has guided the Persian Ship of State are, in the fullest and worst sense of the word, very deep.

Teymourash was an Oriental phenomenon on the lines of Morier's "Haji Baba." He was of comparatively humble birth—half-Persian, half-Russian—his education was entirely Russian; and after the war, like the great masses of the townbred Persian intelligentsia, he became a tense and admiring student of Soviet tactics and practices.

At the same time, for a Persian, he had "dashings gifts of decision and a dramatic flair for semi-Oriental, semi-Slav statecraft, and a personal charm and a social savoir faire which he knew well how to exploit in cosmopolitan circles.

"Emancipation" From The Foreigner.

Thus, although he had neither the upbringing nor the capacity for lasting success, he emerged at a given moment, as the man with the adventurer's touch, to give effect to Shah Riza's policy of a New Persia for the New Persians. And if I may borrow from Mr. Evelyn Waugh's Kingdom of Azania, he became "Minister of Modernisation."

Like all adventurers, he had luck at the outset; but his first four de force, the summary cancellation of the Capitulation, unhappily deluded him and his master into the idea that the rest of New Persia's programme of so-called "emancipation from the foreign yoke" could be achieved by further strokes of the Persian pen. For four years this delusion has persisted; and in those four years his activities have been directed in turn toward the solution of New Persia's three main problems—currency, State banking, and the trade balance.

Persian currency is on a silver basis and naturally depreciated enormously with the fall in the world price of the metal; and when Teymourash realised this, he once again took up his adventurous Persian pen and wrote. His decrees proclaimed arbitrary official rates of exchange, applicable under penalty in Persia.

Tills at British Bank.

But in commenting on their fatuity I need only add that when I was in the country Teymourash's official rate of exchange for the £ sterling was 90 krans in the banks, but that everybody and anybody could, and did, get the world rate of 120 in the bazaars. The theory of the infallibility of the Laws of the Medes and Persians is as dead as Queen Anne.

But this reverse did not free him of the obsession that his admittedly agile and constructive mind could cope with every problem and his next tilt was at the Imperial Bank of Persia, a British foundation, which was the official banking agency of the country. Somehow he mesmerised himself into the idea that the fall in the value of the Persian krans was the fault of the bank—that hotbed, as he thought, of British intrigue.

So not only did he cancel the bank's monopoly of the note issue—admittedly against solid compensation; but, having enunciated the theory that it was offensive to the Persian Nationalism to be in the hands of foreign bankers, he proceeded to found the National Bank of Persia and staff in the higher posts with Germans.

His object was twofold—to create a Persian organisation for the transaction of Government business and, secondly, through this new organisation, to remodel Persian finance on a gold instead of on a silver basis.

As was inevitable he was brought up short by facts—world facts. The old notes had all the backing of the world credit of the Imperial Bank behind them; the new issue of the National Bank would have nothing but Persia and the history of Persian financial chaos behind it; and when this was suddenly realised, Teymourash had to retrace his steps hastily and request the Imperial Bank to continue its monopoly for such time as would be necessary.

The outcome of the proposed change from a silver to a gold currency has been even more pathetic. The new National Bank has neither the capital nor the standing required to create confidence abroad, where it has yet to establish its credit, while in Persia its operations and those of the Government have hitherto been on the lines of "taking in each other's washing."

Studying Soviet Text Books.

Teymourash's supreme work, however, was his handling of the problem of the adverse Persian trade balance. He bought masses of economic text-books and as much Soviet literature on the subject as he could find, and in four months, with the aid of a single foreign Professor of Economics, produced his famous Foreign Trade Monopoly Bill. According to its terms, all imports had to be licensed by Government, and these licences would be given only to importers who undertook to export Persian goods to an equivalent amount.

This ingenious and Soviet-inspired plan of balancing the trade equation by arithmetic might have succeeded in an industrialised country which had something to export. But Persia had next to nothing; with the result that today the country is being starved of essentials which it cannot itself produce, because the established importing houses refuse to entertain the risk of entering the few and unfamiliar trades which do exist.

IRELAND IS IN GRIP OF THE I.R.A.

Hidden Control Of Nation's Force Country Threatened By Civil War

(BY A CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON. I AM just back from Ireland. My task was to inquire into the strength and organisation of the Irish Republican Army—to see things for myself.

What I saw startled me. I think it will startle you. I saw a country threatened with civil war. Ireland is in the grip of the I.R.A. Mr. de Valera is the President of the Free State Executive, but the virtual rulers of the 26 counties are the chiefs of the I.R.A.

De Valera has the Free State Army, the Civil Guard and the armed plain-clothes police, known as the "G.I.D.," but the most formidable power is in the hands of the Commander-in-Chief of the I.R.A. Who this man is, and how he works, I will reveal in a later article.

When Mr. Cosgrave was President, the I.R.A., though it was a power, was a power under difficult but effective restraint. But since Mr. de Valera came into office the restraint has gone. Battalions go through intensive training, and brigades hold manoeuvres. Guns and ammunition are landed, and the arming of these irregulars is common knowledge.

In every village and town in the Free State the I.R.A. has its outposts. Irishmen not connected with it speak of it in whispers, and with anxious glances over their shoulders to make certain that they are not overheard.

Regular Drills. The military training of the I.R.A. is no empty game, no "playing at soldiers." These men are obliged to attend 48 drills in their first year. After that they must put in an appearance at least once a fortnight.

They go on parade, learning to form fours, and march and perform the elementary movements that develop a smart, soldierly appearance. They are instructed in the use of the revolver and the rifle. Regular practice at the secret shooting ranges is insisted upon.

Then, and not till then, they are introduced to the weapon on which the I.R.A. will pin its faith in the next fight.

This is a light, quick-firing rifle something similar in principle to the British Army Lewis gun, but much lighter and, it is claimed, more efficient.

Like so much of the war material of the I.R.A., it comes from America.

Although there is not to-day the same anxiety for concealment on the part of I.R.A. men as there used to be, any stranger of an inquiring turn of mind is treated with grave suspicion. Wanting to gain information as to where training was being carried out, I consulted a friend of mine, an ex-captain in the Royal Irish Regiment. This man was decorated in the war, and I had hitherto looked upon him as more British in outlook than most Englishmen. But when I put my question he replied quietly:

"I am a commandant in the I.R.A., and I would not tell you if I could."

I continued inquiries. My first glimpse of an I.R.A. detachment at drill was provided in a field hidden by trees on the road near Enniscorthy.

There was no attempt to conceal that a company was out, but a screen of outposts prevented any close observation. The men wore jackets, breeches and leggings, with soft hats as a rule, but occasionally caps.

The actual "uniform" consisted of a haversack, a belt, and in some cases a holster. They looked a very smart body, and performed their various evolutions in a manner that would not have discredited a Guards regiment.

At the end of their drills the men gathered round their officer while he explained, evidently, the taking of cover. Now and again he walked forward to a line of trees and showed them how to take advantage of contours and "dead ground" in order to get there.

Next morning, a Sunday, I saw many of the same men coming away from Mass.

I have watched young irregular soldiers leaving for the Dublin mountains to be taught the intricacies of the light machine-gun and the finer points of bomb-throwing. They sing as they move away—not the "Soldier's Song," which cinema orchestras play at the end of every programme, to the confusion of polite English visitors who are unaware that this unrecognised air has the sanctity of a National Anthem, and must be paid the homage of "attention," but the song of the 1916 rebellion, sung to the tune of "God Save Ireland": "Whether we're on the scaffold high, Or on the battlefield we die; Well—what matters If for Erin dear we die?"

In the stillness of the Irish night the fervent chanting of this rebel song has a foreboding sound.

Warned Off.

Once, on a cross-country road between Tipperary and Clonmel, I heard the sound of shooting. I had already seen men I knew to be members of the I.R.A. walking out in twos and threes, and I knew that a triple row of trees which I could see concealed the range. To get to it I climbed a field gate. At once a young farmer rose from a ditch where he had been sitting and demanded my business. I said I wanted to see the shooting.

"It's only a private contest in clay pigeon shooting between a few local men," he explained.

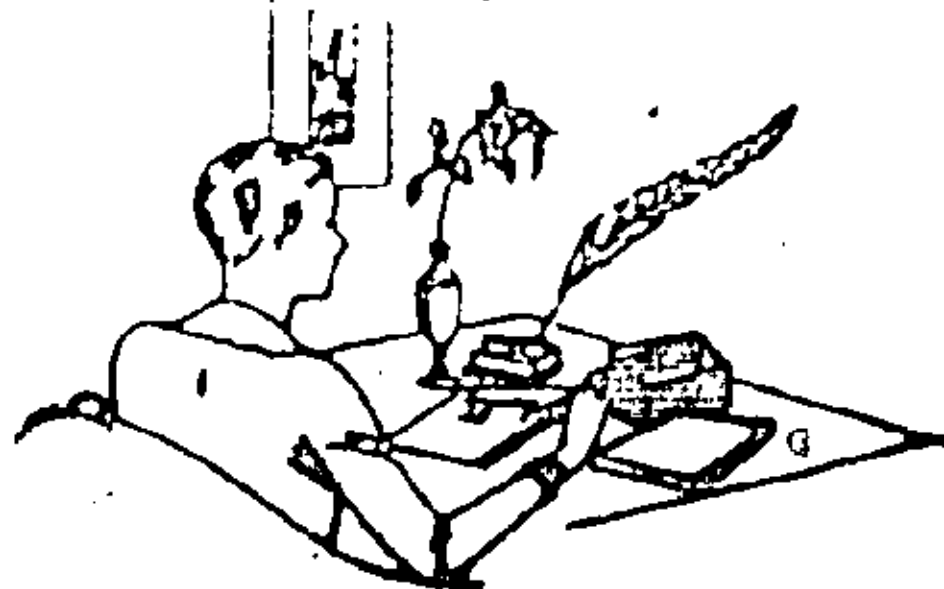

I said I was interested in clay pigeon shooting and was anxious to try my skill with a gun.

"But these young men don't want any outsiders watching them," he replied.

"Surely they won't mind me!" I said.

He put a hand in a pocket that bulged like a poacher's pocket—a gesture which I had come to recognise as a typical I.R.A. indication that an argument had gone far enough—and answered softly:

"If you'll not be going, there'll probably be more than clay pigeon shooting this afternoon!" I took his hint.

The GLOBE TROTTER'S DIARY.

The Jurors' Lapse.

Incidents similar to that which occurred recently in Lord Hewart's Court are so frequent as to suggest that steps should be taken to avoid them in the future.

Possibly through ignorance of the silence imposed upon them, two jurors spoke to a counsel engaged in the case they were trying. Promptly, and rightly, he on learning that they were on the jury reported the matter, with the result that a trial already half through has to be heard de novo before a fresh jury.

Though women are fresher to jury service than men, they cannot be said to offend in this manner oftener than men. Why should there not be printed on the back of summonses to jurors some plain short direction as to what is required of them?

The Roman Axe.

In a chance encounter with a farmer in an Oxfordshire village a person came upon what is perhaps the most ancient farm implement now in use in the world. It is a Roman axe that the farmer unearthed while ploughing near the site of a Roman villa on Akeman Street.

He did not realise its antiquity until he saw an exact replica of his own axe exhibited in Dover Castle and was assured that it belonged to the Roman period.

He shook his head when asked if he had sent the relic to a museum. The axe was in good condition, he declared, and he kept it in a farm outhouse, where it is still in frequent use.

The New Way of Travel.

It is estimated that the various shipping companies who embarked on their scheme for short summer cruises have netted a sum approaching £4,000,000 since the beginning of May last.

In fact, the popularity of these cruises, made possible by the slogan, "Buy British," has been a very welcome addition indeed to the revenue of several of the more important steamship lines.

This year there will be even more ambitious projects in the way of summer cruises. Even the short cruises will be made to extend to Egypt and the West Coast of Africa. These voyages will omit intermediary ports, so that passengers may visit places far distant, and, therefore, more interesting by reason of their previous inaccessibility save to the rich.

A Cecil Rhodes Deal.

The approaching sale of some Soho tapestries of the four Continents, belonging once to Cecil Rhodes, causes one to remember that Rhodes was not a great art lover.

Yet he once fell. Calling at a Bond-street gallery he saw two fascinating little portraits by Gainsborough of Lady Sheffield and the dancer, Giovanna Baccelli.

In his casual and masterful way he said that he liked them, and walked out, apparently under the impression that the deal was over.

The Strange Pact.

But he soon found that he had been forestalled by his bosom friends, Alfred Beit and Rodolphe Kann, who had each bought one.

Still hankering after the Sheffield portrait he said to Kann: "Leave me that portrait in your will, Kann. I will leave you £10,000 in mine. Then it will be a case of who dies first."

Rhodes died first.

Vanishing Thatchers.

The announcement of the death of Mr. John Giles, who achieved distinction as a Thatcher on the Royal estates, is a reminder of the growing scarcity of expert thatchers.

Owners of thatched houses and cottages find they have to wait many months for the services of the Thatcher, unless they are content to have the work done clumsily to the ruin of their roofs' beauty.

The few thatchers who remain to practise their highly skilled craft are mostly old men, and there seem to be none to succeed them.

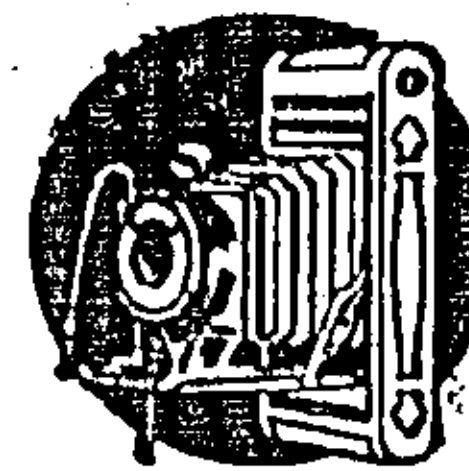

Napoleon's Libraries.

Yet another of Napoleon Buonaparte's libraries is in the public eye, for the Italian Government has decided to restore the small library collected by Napoleon while in exile in Elba.

When he went to Elba he took with him close on a thousand books.

that Gibbs Dentifrice ensure by guarding teeth

Sunny hours of happy laughter fill every day when health abounds. Gibbs Dentifrice guards that priceless boon — by guarding teeth. Many men, many women have perfect teeth to-day because in childhood they acquired the habit of using Gibbs Dentifrice three times a day. That delicious sense of cleanness delights them as much now as it did of old — as it delights children to-day. Teeth might well be perfect when cleaned so thoroughly — polished so gently, yet surely. Nothing that could cause decay escapes that fragrant foam. Delicious the tonic refreshment of mouth and gums — delicious the sense of well-being. Such a little tin — so handy — so neat. Contains so much cleanness. Take it with you — wherever you go.

Japanese To Invade Jehol.

JAPANESE military preparations having been completed with the massing of troops in the Chinchow area, the invasion of Jehol will be commenced within a few days. Operations would have been started earlier but for the extreme wintry conditions in the North which held up the Japanese advance after Chiumenkow Pass had been captured. Japan's "excuse" on this occasion is bandit oppression but Tokyo officials have not denied that their purpose is to capture the whole of Jehol province. Speculation rests on whether Japanese troops will enter the Peking-Tientsin area, but, as pointed out in these columns a few weeks ago, it is considered most unlikely that the Japanese will dare any move which may break the patience of the Powers. In to-day's issue is published a report that Tokyo is bearing in mind the necessity for avoiding the endangering of foreign lives and interests in North China. The extent of Japan's latest aggression may be determined largely by the opposition provided by the Chinese troops. The recent reports of Chinese attacks on Chiumenkow Pass indicate that a stiff resistance will be provided and the conclusion is that Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang is prepared to make a last-minute endeavour to redeem himself. The earlier theory that the Japanese militarists intended to definitely eliminate Marshal Chang has little substantiation since the Tokyo objective has been revealed to be the annexation of Jehol. Meanwhile the League is still struggling to find a conciliation formula although it has been apparent for some time that recourse must be made to the League Covenant. There has been a hardening of opinion in Geneva circles and recommendations may soon be made on Paragraph 4 of Article XV. The allegations that Britain, under a secret understanding with Japan, would acquiesce in recognition of Manchukuo created an unfortunate belief in many quarters and although these rumours have been dissipated by official statements from the British Foreign Office the effect has been harmful to negotiation. Britain has reiterated its adherence to the Lytton Report as the basis of policy in the Sino-Japanese dispute and it is along these lines that settlement is most likely to be reached.

European Politics.

THE past week has been an eventful one in Europe and it is a matter for congratulation that the political crises in Germany and France have been attended by so little disorder. The German Reichstag has once again been dissolved and a General Election will take place on March 5. In France, M. Daladier, an experienced statesman, although little known abroad, has succeeded in forming a Ministry of a Radical character, but it is evident that the change in Government will have little effect on French policy, domestic or foreign. M. Herriot is remaining in the background for the present but his association with M. Daladier is not concealed, while M. Paul Boncour vacates his stop-gap term of office as Premier to return to his old position as Foreign Minister. It is not improbable that M. Herriot will soon return to power, but no drastic change in administration is probable in the immediate future. Paris is mainly concerned with financial affairs, the economic slump having made itself felt in France with greater force during the past few months. In Germany the political situation is much more critical and the forthcoming elections, the fourth within twelve months, will probably establish Hitler in power. The consequences are difficult to judge, but a Nazi Government would create uneasiness in France and Poland. However, it is certain that the fiery Nazi leader will be sobered in office, while the restraining influence of President Hindenburg will check any extreme exuberance. Whatever the opinions of Hitler, and no definite judgment can yet be formed, he commands attention by his ability as an organizer while he compels respect for his determined opposition to Communism, a rapidly-growing menace in Germany. It is for this latter reason that President Hindenburg appointed him to the Chancellery following the fall of von Papen and von Schleicher. Germany has suffered through the uncertain political situation during the past year and it is earnestly hoped that the elections will clear the stalemate which has produced such indefinite and hesitant expressions of policy from Berlin.

EARLY HISTORY OF ST. STEPHEN'S

Interesting Speech By Dr. S. W. T'so.

EDUCATION IN CHINA.

A brief but interesting history of the early days of St. Stephen's College was given by the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'so at the 30th annual prize distribution, held at Stanley yesterday. He said:—

"This year, 1933, ushers in the 31st year of the foundation of St. Stephen's College; and to-day, at its 30th prize-giving, the College has the pleasure of welcoming its fourth Patron, His Lordship Bishop Hall, who gives us the honour of his presence at our function and kindly comes to distribute the prizes.

"Under these auspicious circumstances, I may be excused for taking the liberty of recounting some reminiscences of the past concerning the educational facilities in Hong Kong at the close of the 19th Century; the founding of St. Stephen's College and the hopes and aspirations of its founders.

"About the time under review, the standard of education obtained in Hong Kong was not so high as to enable a student, on leaving school, to matriculate into a University or enter for professional studies. Many Chinese parents at that time were beginning to realise the benefit of giving their sons a higher education. They also realised that if their sons, before going to England, could obtain locally a standard of education up to matriculation standard, they would not have to provide for them further schooling in England, thereby saving their boys longer separation from home and themselves greater expense. The need in Hong Kong for a higher grade school—a school like that of a public school in England—was apparent.

Early Difficulties.

"Certain leading Chinese in the Colony under the leadership of the late Sir Kai Ho Kai (then The Hon. Dr. Ho Kai) held meetings for the purpose of discussing the establishment of such a school and a handsome sum of money was promised. Unfortunately for the scheme, great difficulty was encountered in securing a suitable site for the school and the project was ultimately dropped, but the idea of the scheme was never lost sight of.

"However, fortune, in its fickleness, turned, and in 1902 Archdeacon Barnett (then Mr. Barnett) came to Hong Kong from Australia. His coming here was not by invitation but was God-sent. He was introduced by Bishop Banister (then Archdeacon Barnett) to the late Sir Kai Ho Kai, with whom I was closely associated in all matters of public interest, with a proposal to start a school for Chinese students in a small building erected on a piece of ground adjoining to the Mission house known as Haldon, and they desired co-operation from the Chinese.

Radio Growth.

"The other house at Ball's Court was also taken in the next year. Yet these two houses were found to be insufficient to accommodate the number of students, and, in the 3rd year, the College took a lease for 21 years of these 2 houses from the owner with a covenant to add a new wing to the premises to the value of not less than 60,000.00. Steps were taken to raise the necessary funds and the late Mr. Chiu Siu Ki rendered a great service to the College in collecting subscriptions from Chinese donors whose names are now inscribed on a tablet which adorns the walls of this College.

"It was at one of these prize-giving days of St. Stephen's that Sir Frederick Lugard, the then Governor of Hong Kong, who came to distribute the prizes, suggested the idea of founding a University in Hong Kong.

St. Stephen's College Prize-Giving

Bishop Hall Presents Awards

GOOD PROGRESS REPORTED AT 30TH CEREMONY

THE 30th annual prizegiving of St. Stephen's College, Stanley, took place yesterday afternoon, when His Lordship the Bishop of Victoria (Rt. Rev. Ronald Hall), presented the awards.

A large number of prominent local residents attended the function.

After the Chairman of the College Council, Bishop Hall, had welcomed the gathering, reports on the year's work were read by the Head of Chinese Studies, Mr. A. Ling, B.A., and the Warden, the Rev. E. W. L. Martin, M.A.

An interesting address was given by the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'so who took the chair.

After distributing the prizes, the Bishop gave an address the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock replying with a vote of thanks.

Among those present were:—Hon. Sir William Shenton, J.P., Hon. Dr. S. W. T'so, LL.D., O.B.E., Hon. Sir H. E. Pollock, K.T., K.C., Hon. Mr. Paul Lauder, J.P., Mok Kon Sang, Esq., J.P., Li Hoi Tung, Esq., J.P., K. L. Chau, Esq., M.A., Tang Shiu Kin, Esq., J.P., Rev. C. I. Blanchett, Mr. G. P. de Martin, M.B.E., the former Director of Education, and his successor, Mr. N. L. Smith.

A Great Future.

In his address the Bishop said that the newspapers had given a great deal of space to "tips" and "fores." This suggested to him that on present form he would tip students of St. Stephen's College for very high places in China in the future.

He said St. Stephen had combined two streams of culture, the Jewish and the Graeco-Roman. Stephen was a Jew with a Greek name.

Most of the best things of life spring from a union of cultures, he said, and he was convinced that this part of the world was bound to produce great things from the union of the Chinese and European cultures. St. Stephen's College was playing an important part in this work and at the Centenary people would look back to these early days and view with amazement the great things that had sprung from them.

Warden's Report.

The Warden said:—"We rejoice to-day in 30 years of St. Stephen's College. We thank God as we look back to early days in Western Street, and as we look round at the ten permanent buildings on this beautiful estate at Stanley to-day. We extend our thanks to the Hong-Kong Government for this spacious site, and to the college Council, and old boys and all our friends for the success of their work. We thank the staff, past and present.

"We had 184 students in 1932, of whom 163 were boarders. Of these one-half were Cantonese, and the others from many provinces of China and from Overseas.

"Nine full teams entered for the football competition. At Easter our tennis and football teams visited Amoy and defeated the Champion school of South Fukien.

"In the recent Examinations, eight passed Matriculation (distinctions in Physics and Mechanics), two obtained Senior Certificates (a distinction in Mechanics) and eleven passed the Junior Examination (distinctions in English, Arithmetic, Mathematics, and Biblical Knowledge)."

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 82.

Litsaea Citrata.

THERE is a beautiful tree in flower just now which is worthy of note in this column; it is Litsaea citrata. Branches of this tree used to be sold, along with those of the New Year Flower Enkianthus, and the Peach at the New Fairs, and to such an extent were the trees on the island mutilated that the species was almost in danger of being exterminated. In 1913 a regulation was made by the Governor-in-Council prohibiting hawkers to sell, or possess, flowers or plants of 9 different Hong Kong species of which Litsaea citrata was one. In 1925 protection was extended to two other species, both orchids. Since the protection of these plants certain of them, in particular Enkianthus, the different species of Rhododendron, and Litsaea citrata have increased in abundance very considerably on the island.

Litsaea citrata is very common in the region near the Kowloon reservoir and also on Hong Kong island near the Pokfulam conduit path and the forestry path from the bottom of Hutton road to the Peak road. The tree is deciduous and when in flower bears but few of its old leaves, which are long and willow-like, and in most cases the young leaves have not yet developed. The tree, with its straight, smooth, green trunk and its masses of white flowers in clusters, resembling catkins, borne towards the ends of the twigs, when seen at a distance might be mistaken for a willow in spring. The flowers are very small, 5 or 6 are grouped together and surrounded by an involucre of white bracts. The aromatic fragrance of the flowers and leaves gives rise to the specific name citrata. The genus belongs to the family Lauraceae which also includes the Cinnamon and Camphor.

Camellia Caudata.

One of the white Camellias is still in flower in various localities in the Colony e.g. on the forestry path referred to above. This is Camellia caudata, a species with small but very attractive white or cream coloured flowers tinged slightly with pink. It can be distinguished from other local Camellias by possessing the following three features, flowers pendulous, stalks of outer stamens united for 2/3 of their length, and glabrous, acuminate leaves 2-4 inches long.

Pieris Swinhoei.

The heather family, Ericaceae, is represented in Hong Kong by the Rhododendrons (Azaleas) and by Enkianthus quinqueflorus the New Year Flower. A third genus has been added to this list recently and as it was discovered in the Shing Mun Valley which is shortly to be flooded, its presence may be only made use of his membership, he retained the seat until a few years ago when he assigned it to Mr. A. A. Alves.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED.

Mr. & Mrs. J. M. De Castro Basto Feted. MANY DESCENDANTS.

A fitting ceremony took place at the Rosary Church on Friday afternoon when 500 relations and friends joined with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. de Castro Basto in singing a Te Deum as thanksgiving for 50 years of happy married life.

Fifty years ago on Friday, the cathedral at Macao was the scene of one of the largest weddings that had ever been celebrated in that Colony when Mr. J. M. de Castro Basto, the son of Marques de Castro Basto was married to the eldest daughter of Count de Senna Fernandes.

The couple, after spending some time at Hankow, settled down in Macao where they remained till about 1902 when they came to Hong Kong. The family has been connected with various business enterprises in Hong Kong. Mrs. Basto's mother being one of the largest original shareholders of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation. 31 years ago, Mr. Basto purchased the printing business of Noronha and Company and carried it on till the present day, though he has retired from active business. He was one of the original members of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange and although he did not make use of his membership, he retained the seat until a few years ago when he assigned it to Mr. A. A. RUSSIA'S "TRAGIC" WOMENFOLK

"Most Malignant Race On Earth."

DIVORCE FARCE.

Now York.

The Soviet woman is the victim of "the greatest trick in history," according to Paula Leclerc, an American writer who has just returned from a year's stay in Russia. Her travels, she said, were mostly without guides. She left dumplings in hotel rooms where she registered and went out alone to see conditions for herself.

"The whole system of civilization has crashed about the heads of Russia's women," she said. "They are the tragic victims of militarism, the most malignant and mis-priated lot, biologically and spiritually, of any women on earth. They exist wretchedly under a system of callousness and coercion, bereft of all feminine consideration, and worked like serfs by the government."

The state nurseries and laundries and kitchens are practically non-functioning, which means that every woman must care for her home and children as well as doing her industrial job.

"The man of the family can walk out of his obligations to his wife by announcing that she has been divorced. He can do this successfully as many times as he wants to, with the promise that one-third of his income goes to any children he leaves with the mother. But when a man has done it, any eight times, you can figure how much is left for the latest wife's child."

Miss Leclerc said she saw women working in mines, hauling agricultural implements, puddling barefoot in mills. She seldom saw any of them smile.

"They are spiritually starved, and the hideous thing is that they know it," she added. "They are aware of their degeneration. Everything the value as women has been wiped away in the name of progress, and they are a heartbroken lot."—Reuter.

"SERMON" BY SYBIL THORNDIKE.

A Solution For Life's Difficulties.

Sydney.

Dame Sybil Thorndike read the lesson for a Sunday service in St. John's Church of England, Balmalm, Sydney, during her Australian tour.

Afterwards she gave a short address.

"When I was a little girl," she said, "I was taught to be quiet in church, but in those days we were growing into a broader age when men and women work side-by-side in the church."

"My father used to tell me, when I was young, that if I were ever in bother or difficulty, or in a fuss, to go into the church and shut my mind against all the things that fuss and bother. If you can do that, you will touch something which will give you an answer to things which seem unanswerable."—Reuter.

SUSPECTED FORGERS RAIDED.

Police Seize Quantity Of Materials.

THREE MEN CHARGED.

Three Chinese, two unemployed and one a student, were yesterday morning charged at the Central Magistracy with having unlawful possession of plates for the purpose of forging Siamese tical bank notes. The case was remanded until next week. The charge against one of the accused men will be heard separately on Monday afternoon.

M. W. P. Thompson, A. S. P., prosecuted and related how, with a party of detectives, he raided a house in Sam To Chok village on February 2. They found two men, Siu Pak-hing and Wu Lap-on, on the ground floor, in possession of glass and copper plates used for printing forged 20, 10 and 1 tical notes and also photographic material used in the forging. Paper for the notes was also found.

The third accused, Siu Yan-chung was arrested later at No. 16, Clarence Terrace, Lim Chan Village, Kwongsi, and Mr. Thompson said that there was every reason to believe that the two cases were connected.

GIANT MAGNET FOR OPERATIONS.

New Help For U.S. Surgeons.

REMOVES METAL FROM BODY.

St. Louis, Missouri.

A new giant electro-magnet for removing pieces of metal from the human body and described as the most powerful of its kind in the United States, was demonstrated at the clinical congress of the American college of surgeons.

The magnet, with the mounting, weighs well over a ton. Its generator has a 50-horsepower motor, and it will lift a metal operating table from the floor with ease.

An operation such as the new electro-magnet will be used for in the future was performed in Little Rock, Arkansas, when a copper rivet was extracted from the lung of a twelve-year-old boy.

Six years ago the boy swallowed the rivet at play and though he told his parents a week later, they doubted his story. As no pain resulted the incident was forgotten.

Recently he became seriously ill, he was treated for malaria and lung trouble as the doctors knew nothing of the presence of the rivet. It was finally discovered by an x-ray picture and extracted.—Reuter.

CONVICT'S UNTIMELY ATTACK.

Picked A Fight With Heavyweight Boxer.

Sydney, N.S.W.

When a long-sentence prisoner attacked a senior warder at Parramatta Gaol, he might not have been so hasty had he known that the warder, Les Coghill, once figured in a contest with Frank Goddard, ex-champion heavyweight boxer of England, at the National Sporting Club, London.

Coghill, who had just come over from France after months of front-line fighting, put up a splendid fight, and knocking Goddard down in the first round, looked like winning.

However, the bell saved Goddard, who, after being carried to his corner, recovered, and went on to win by a technical knockout in the fifth round.

Coghill took up boxing as a hobby. Entering the Prisons Department as a physical culture instructor, he has spent much of his time teaching prisoners the Swedish system of physical culture. His brother, Captain Gordon Coghill, met the giant American, Fred Fulton, during the war, and was beaten in eight rounds.—Reuter.

The Greatest "Test" Of All Play Well The Game Of Life

FEAR MEANS FAILURE

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

THE fourth of the present series of Test matches, starting on Friday next is of vital importance to both sides. If England wins, the Ashes are hers. If Australia wins, she still has a chance of retaining them.

Whether played "down under" or at home, these contests have fascinated upon them the thoughts of millions. Many thousands watch, but a far wider circle is every part of the Empire is concerned. Each edition of the papers, as it leaves the printing press is eagerly scanned for the latest score.

And the reason is not hard to find. Despite the inroads of football, racing, golf and tennis, cricket is still our national pastime, pre-eminently the game of the English people, embodying everything that is finest and best in our national character.

The eleven men chosen represent the nation. The vast ring of spectators from near and far realise that they are in it. They—the eleven—are playing for us. Their failure is our failure. It reflects on our skill, our stamina, our prestige. If Jardine and Co. win, we win. We cannot stand aloof, and be indifferent. Our hearts are in it, if not our hands.

The thought of the Test Matches takes our minds to Lords and the Oval, to Leeds, Old Trafford and Trent Bridge, or to the grounds so familiar to our minds in Australia, Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide and Brisbane, but I want to take our thoughts for a few minutes this morning to a far bigger field than any of these, and to a game of far more importance than any ever played on these historic grounds.

A Greater Game. We have not much chance of being picked to play for either England or Australia but we are all playing in this game and there is no chance of getting out of it. Like the fight for the Ashes, it is fought to a finish. There is no time limit save that of life itself. For life is the great Test Match.

Life without tests would be a dull, insipid thing—like going in to bat with no one trying to get you out. It would soon become pretty monotonous. The glory of the life of Jesus Christ, was not that He could not get out, but that He stepped in. Despite every device of His opponents, no matter how they placed their field, or what cunning balls they tossed up, He is the only one who in the great test of life has kept His wicket intact.

There are no mythical Ashes behind this game of life, but something very tangible—the making of the human soul, and yet in both Tests the same qualities are necessary. Among the first is courage. It doesn't matter what the game is, the person who goes into it with cold feet is half beaten before he starts. Fear spells failure. There is sound cricketing sense and sane Christian philosophy in a remark I once heard in the pavilion at Fenners, made by a man who was going to play.

When we look at the first Test Team we can take heart. Twelve were chosen. It was very far from a perfect team. They had much to learn. One was all for self and in the end he had to go. Another—Peters—had it in him to make good, but he needed a lot of coaching. He couldn't wait to play himself in. All or nothing for him, and sometimes worse than nothing. When the game was critical he let his side down again and again. After that ignominious display on the eve of Good Friday we might wonder whether he would ever be in the side again. But his Captain saw qualities in him no one else could see.

NEW DOCTORS FOR COLONY.

The appointment of Professor W. Brown and Mr. Ho Kwong to be additional Members of the Council of the University of Hong Kong is announced in the Government Gazette.

Other appointments announced are those of Drs. H. J. Croot, M.D., B.S., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., C. W. Sanders, M.C.P.S. (Alberta), M.D., M.S. (Canada) and A. N. Jones, M.D., B.S., whose names have been added to the list of medical practitioners entitled to practise in the Colony.

The name of Mr. J. T. W. Brooke has been added to the List of Authorised Architects in Hong Kong, and the name of Mr. W. J. Cole to the List of Authorised Auditors.

out to bat against a world famous bowler, "He can only bowl one ball at a time anyway!"

The trouble with so many people is that they face the game of life in the wrong spirit. They always seem so overwhelmed by the present view of their misfortunes, they are so fearful of what they imagine lies waiting for them around the next corner. If they get hit for six they lose their length at once, and can't recover it. The game begins to drag, and they start to drift. There are few sadder sights in the world than that of men who started out full of hope and confidence, gradually losing their courage in the game of life.

Body Discipline.

The next thing is Discipline. St. Paul had something to say on this point. "Everyone who striveth for the mastery," he says "is temperate in all things." There is no game in which the value of training can be overestimated. Unless a man is prepared to discipline his body he will never be an athlete worthy of any note. And "an animated stomach" as Carlyle called it, is as much good as a sick headache in the fight of life. The end of discipline is the formation of character. And character is the one thing that is going to endure when our bodies are finished with for the last time.

Then there is Endurance. Again St. Paul. "Happy is he who endures through the trial, for when he has stood the test, he will gain the crown of life." It is so easy to be impatient with a patient batsman. Collins, the late Australian captain, once took five hours to make 40 runs in a Test Match at Old Trafford. It was not thrilling. The crowd in the sixpenny seats let him know all about it in no uncertain terms, but there was something very fine about it. He wasn't playing to the gallery. He was staving off defeat. It was an example of dogged imperturbability and endurance for the honour of his side.

If we have courage and discipline, we too shall find the endurance we need in the game of life. It is pretty hard to keep a stiff upper lip when things look blue, and the clouds are overshadowing the path we have to tread. If only we can stick it out, we shall win through for even the longest river winds somewhere to the sea.

The First "Team." One question remains to be asked. On whose side are we playing? There is no Jack of both sides in this game of life. We are on one side or the other.

When we look at the first Test Team we can take heart. Twelve were chosen. It was very far from a perfect team. They had much to learn. One was all for self and in the end he had to go. Another—Peters—had it in him to make good, but he needed a lot of coaching. He couldn't wait to play himself in. All or nothing for him, and sometimes worse than nothing. When the game was critical he let his side down again and again. After that ignominious display on the eve of Good Friday we might wonder whether he would ever be in the side again. But his Captain saw qualities in him no one else could see.

And that confidence was not misplaced. In the end he became the Hobbs, Bradman and Sutcliffe of the lot, all in one.

How often we have read the explanation of some defeat—"If they had taken the chances offered, they would have won." Victory or defeat is determined by the use we make of our chances in life as in games.

We may have failed again and again in this game of life, but another chance awaits us. Even to the most unassuming and insignificant there is still the opportunity to be in on His side, under His tuition, under a splendid and valiant captain who has never known defeat, and who asks us to play the game for Him with loyalty and courage, with discipline and endurance.

The University of Hong Kong is now an accomplished fact, and Hong Kong became an educational centre in the Far East. Chinese can now get higher education locally without going abroad and it cannot be said that it was not through the efforts of St. Stephen's that this happy state of affairs in the educational system of this Colony has been brought about.

More Pupils Needed

"Ladies and Gentlemen, I do not wish to keep you any longer by telling you of the past, but would call your attention to the present. Here, you see with your own eyes this ideal spot for a school with all facilities for sports, games, boating and swimming. It is on the playing fields that the boys learn discipline, fair-play, give-and-take and co-operation, which go to shape the character of a boy and make him a manly man."

St. Stephen's commences its work this year with 160 students, of which number 140 are boarders. There are still vacancies in the lower forms 1 and 2 and we hope that, like last year, many small boys will join the College after the Chinese New Year.

I should like to tell our friends here that if they wish their sons to receive a public school education, they should send them to school young, as it is easier to slunge their character when young. I can almost hear a whisper from someone saying: "I am afraid to send my son to a boarding school; he is too young." My answer to this is: "Please come and inspect our school and see for yourself the splendid arrangements made for taking care of the young, and, above all, look at Mrs. Martin, whose motherly and loving nature for the care of the young is written on her face, then your fears will disappear."

Dr. Lo's Absence

"Now, on behalf of the College Council, I thank your Lordship for coming here to-day to distribute the prizes. I feel sure that every

LAST WEEK'S SOLUTION.

BRIDGE NOTES

USING THE TOOLS YOU HAVE BY ELY CULBERTSON

THE four suits in a deck of cards represent four separate armies, and in partnership games the purpose of the partners is to combine their forces as to accomplish strategic or tactical results; hence it is part of good card play to deceive the opponents as much as possible regarding the location of key cards. Frequently the success of a contract rests wholly upon the outcome of such manoeuvres, as, for instance, in this hand:

Both sides vulnerable.
South—Dealer.

NORTH

S—9, 4, 2.
H—8, 6.
D—10, 9, 8, 2.
C—A, 10, 7, 5.

WEST

S—6, 5, 3.
H—10, 6, 4.
D—A, 4, 3.
C—Q, J, 9, 4.

SOUTH

S—10.
H—K, Q, 9, 2.
D—K, Q, J, 6.
C—8, 6, 3, 2.

EAST

S—A, K, Q, J, 8, 7.
H—A, J, 7, 3.
D—7, 5.
C—K.

East was playing a contract of four spades, against which South had opened the diamond King. When the Dummy was spread on the table, East could count his probable losers as two hearts, one diamond and one club—apparently a defeat of 1 trick unless by strategy he could turn one of his losers into a winner.

Winning the first trick with the Ace of diamonds in the Dummy, the Queen of clubs was led. Seeing all four hands, this willingness to sacrifice two honours of equal strength on an apparently losing trick seems rather inutile. However, it proved very effective, as North read the lead of the Queen of clubs as an attempt to establish a club in the Dummy. He placed the King of clubs in the South hand; otherwise, he reasoned, East would lead a low club.

Misled entirely by the Declarer's ruse, North played a small club, and East's singleton King won. Thus in a twinkling the entire picture was changed. Instead of four probable losers, East now had but two, both in the heart suit. Inability to get into Dummy would make impractical any attempt to further reduce these losers. East's correct following play, therefore, is to lead a low heart to the Ten spot after drawing the adverse trumps, and as the cards are distributed this play must win.

It is quite true that there is nothing certain about the success of the play outlined above, but if this course does not win the Declarer must lose in any event.

The man on a desert island cannot pore over the comprehensive catalogue of one of our leading mail order houses and select the tool best fitted to his use. He must make use of the tools at hand. The same rule applies after the cards are dealt and the contract reached in Bridge.

The Delayed Coup

A coup, a term used frequently in Bridge, means nothing more nor less than a play for position. It is a play used to capture an adverse trump which otherwise would make a trick were it not for the position of the Declarer's trumps in relation to those adversely held. It also involves the shortening of the Declarer's hand in trumps in order to attain the position desired. The play is an extremely interesting one as it occurs with great frequency at the Bridge table and is more frequently missed than made, even by players of considerable skill.

To-day's hand also deals with the correct management in play of a suit holding all the high honours with the exception of the King and Knave and unaware of the location of these honours. The principle of play here advocated is my own invention, but other players have accepted it as correct.

North and South vulnerable.
East and West not vulnerable.

Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—East's hand is not strong enough for a Takeout Double, although he has strong hopes of defeating game contract by his opponents.

2—A "rainsance" bid inserted with the hope of laying a bidding defence against a possible game contract.

3—The club suit is rebiddable once.

4—South's Rebid is based on hope to find a fit in the hands.

5—A sacrifice bid. West has no defence against a four spade contract.

6—North sees a certain penalty. He is uncertain about game.

7—South feels that the chance of making five spades is excellent and does not wish to risk a game for a small penalty.

West opened a diamond and Dummy won with the Ace. When South studied his hand he saw that the King and Knave of spades were missing. East's Double probably located the King of spades in that hand. In any event with this holding in spades his correct lead was the Queen. So the Queen was led from Dummy East, of course, refused to cover and West's Singleton Knave dropped. This seemed to place the remaining trumps adversely held in East's hand. He next led the last diamond from Dummy and trumped in his own hand, the first step in preparing for the later position play essential to the making of his contract. South's next play was to lead a club, finessing the Queen and East won. It is, of course, apparent that East must lead a spade, as any other lead would cost him a trick. South won the spade trick with the eight and again finessed the club, East's Ten winning. To play the Ace of clubs at this stage would have meant defeat. Even yet East is not entirely helpless. If he would now make the brilliant lead of the King of hearts, South could not make his contract as the opportunity to shorten his trumps to the same number as held by East would not then be presented.

NEW PLANE FOR THE PRINCE.

Cabin Monoplane From Vickers.

The Prince of Wales, who already has two Puss Moth aeroplanes, has placed an order with Vickers for a Vistra passenger monoplane of a type similar to that which has been operating successfully in Western Australia for the past two years.

The Vistra has a certain accommodation for twelve passengers, but the Prince's machine is to be adapted to special requirements which the Prince, in consultation with the designers, has specified. This aeroplane is fitted with different engines according to need. His Royal Highness's purchase will have two Bristol Pegasus air-cooled engines, each of 525 h.p., and also a powerful radio set. The engine is of the same type as that used in the recent world record altitude flight won by Great Britain.

The speed of the Vistra with the Pegasus engines will be somewhat greater than that with the two Jupiter engines used in the Australian machines. With the Jupiters the maximum speed is 145 m.p.h. It is probable that the cruising speed of the Prince's machine will be about 130 m.p.h., with a maximum of about 155 m.p.h. The machine has a span of 70 ft.

TIME PERFECTS THE AUTOMOBILE

NEW FEATURES IN 1933 CHEVROLET

SILENT AND EASY TO DRIVE

THE 1933 Chevrolet six cylinder engine, despite increased size and power, is said to operate with greater smoothness and economy. The bore remains 3-5/16 inches, but the stroke has been stepped up to 4 inches, the maximum of 65 h.p. being delivered at 2,800 r.p.m.

The crankshaft is increased ten pounds in weight to 63½, and has an improved counter weight and a heavier harmonic balancer. Connecting rods are longer.

Pistons are redesigned to provide exact control of oil supply to the cylinder walls and to permit the equalization of the weights of all pistons. Redesigned cylinder head provides a larger combustion chamber and maintains the compression ratio of 6.20 with the larger displacement.

New spark plug design brings the electrodes to the edges of the combustion chambers. This prevents trapping of dead exhaust gases, giving smoother combustion and lower fuel consumption.

Operation of the valve mechanism is improved and the entire fuel induction system is refined to insure smoother engine operation and better economy by improved heat control and carburetion.

In an improved form, the harmonic principle is again applied to the fan on the 1933 Chevrolet. The result is a fan of astonishing quiet and efficiency, that delivers a volume of air adequate for cooling the more powerful engine.

Redesigned Brakes.

In line with increased performance of the engine, both front and rear mechanical brakes are redesigned and enlarged to provide increased deceleration. Brake drum diameter is increased to 12 inches, lining width to 1-3/4 inches and total service brake area is now 128.4 square inches. The new design obviates the necessity for separate parking brake shoes on the rear wheels. A "cut-in" system of linkage enables both front and rear brakes to be operated by either the foot pedal or parking lever with the same type of action. This linkage conforms with the "Hoover code."

The 1933 frame is entirely new. It is lengthened to accommodate the increased wheelbase and added body length, and all cross members and brackets are redesigned and relocated accordingly. Side frame members are much stronger and deeper in the middle, and the engine sub-frame members greatly increase the strength and rigidity of the frame. The rear cross member also is wider and stronger, and a "kickup" front and rear brings the centre of gravity of the whole car closer to the ground—a further contribution of safety.

The front axle is heavier and stronger, and the rear axle is completely redesigned, with a larger banjo portion to take the new differential unit.

Rigidity of the axle shaft is increased by the use of a double taper construction. Its wheel hub is now forged integral at the outer end and this results in a stronger, more rigid structure, eliminating the necessity for the long, tapered spindle on which the separate hub was formerly mounted.

Easy Steering.

Additional ease in steering has been built into the 1933 Chevrolets. Steering gear ratio has been stepped up from 12.1 to 14.1, and where the steering mast is connected to the instrument panel, a flanged cylinder rical grommet of rubber insulates all vibration.

An improved exhaust silencer nearly 50 per cent. longer, consisting of four expansion chambers, eliminates the rumbles and metallic noises present in some exhaust systems, and releases the spent gases in a smooth and continuous purr.

An improved clutch transmits the increased torque of the more powerful engine. The transmission now has helical constant-mesh type gears exceptionally quiet in operation, particularly in second gear. The synchronizing mechanism also is improved and refined, and quick and silent shifting is certain. The free-wheeling unit still employs an improved expanding spring principle.

The fuel system also is redesigned, with a fourteen-gallon tank in the rear, and an electric gauge with a single float located at the right side of the tank.

BROOKLANDS TRACK DANGEROUS.

Strong Condemnation By Sir Henry Birkin.

London.

A sensational condemnation of Brooklands motor-racing track at Weybridge, Surrey, has been written by Sir Henry Birkin, one of our foremost racing drivers, in a book shortly to be published.

"I think that it is, without exception, the most out-of-date, inadequate and dangerous track in the world. I shall lay myself open to much recrimination for saying this; but I know Brooklands well and that is my conclusion," he declares.

How well Sir Henry knows the Weybridge track may be gauged by the fact that he has travelled there faster than any other man or woman.

"The layman looks up to Brooklands as the Mecca of the motor world," says Sir Henry. "It is nothing of the sort. I say frankly that it could not have existed for more than a season in the United States or on the Continent."

"Brooklands was built for speeds not greater than 120 m.p.h., and for anyone to go over 130 without knowing the track better than his own self is to court disaster."

"The surface is abominable... There are bumps which jolt the driver up and down out of his seat and make the car leave the road and travel through the air."

MANY MILES BUT LITTLE "COKE."

One of the most frequent causes of argument between motorists is the distance they have covered without "decoking." Surely, however, the experience of the Hereford Motor Co., Ltd., motor-coach operators, will need some capping. In a letter they have just sent to Commer Cars, Ltd., of Luton, they say: "It might interest you to know of a pleasant surprise experienced by us the other week. We decarbonised, for the first time, one of the 30 G.P. Commer coaches in our fleet. This vehicle had actually done 23,000 miles, but upon lifting the cylinderhead, the impression was that 1,000 miles had been the maximum."

DEVELOPMENTS IN MOTOR FUEL.

Demand For More Power.

BETTER PERFORMANCE IN COLD WEATHER.

The demand of motorists for more power, higher speeds, better cold-weather performance and greater safety are necessitating new developments in fuels and lubricants, Dr. J. Bennett Hill, chief chemist of the Atlantic Refining Company, declared recently before the Western New York Section of the American Chemical Society.

"In answering the demand for greater power the automobile industry has gone to higher compression engines requiring a gasoline of improved anti-knock quality," Dr. Hill said. "To meet this demand, the refiner has taken two principal steps. First, he has surveyed his crude sources to obtain, if possible, crudes which on processing will give better anti-knock gasoline; second, he is increasing the severity of his cracking conditions by raising the cracking temperature or increasing the cracking time."

"Engines running hotter in warm weather and required to function properly in cold weather have put on the refiner the problem of making gasoline which will start a cold engine and yet will not boil in the feed system of a hot engine."

The trend toward greater speeds of automobiles and at the same time the lowering of the centre of gravity of the car to insure greater safety has put additional burdens on lubricants, Dr. Hill added. High-speed transmissions and rear axles, he said, in some cases demand oils of greater film strength.

Dr. Hill declared that, while shortage of crude petroleum seemed a long way off, the industry was not neglecting preparations for such eventuality. He mentioned hydrogenization as capable of decreasing the yields of low-value products such as fuel oil and obtaining the maximum amount of valuable products from the crude, and said that this process would undoubtedly become a greater factor with the rising price of crude oil.

BRITISH CARS IN INDIA.

During 1930-1931, there were 12,601 private motor cars (including taxicabs) imported into India. Of these 2,885 were British, 3,250 Canadian, and 5,098 American. During 1931-1932 there were 7,220 cars imported, of which 2,173 were British, 676 Canadian, and 3,368 American. England thus supplied 30 per cent. of the cars in 1931-1932, as against 23 per cent. in the previous year. Clearly, however, there is room for further increase. "The Autocar."

60 M.P.H. ON A STEAM ROAD COACH!

A firm of coach proprietors in Thames New Zealand, according to "Motor Transport" is running a steam coach between Auckland and Thames. The vehicle weighs nearly three tons fitted with a 20-seater body, and the engine develops 100 b.h.p. A speed of 60 m.p.h. is claimed.

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring" — a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved — like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower — it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

BORDERERS WIN IN THREE LEAGUES TOTAL SEVENTEEN GOALS WITHOUT REPLY BIG RECREIO DEFEATS ROBERTSON BREAKS ARM PLAYING AGAINST POLICE.

HEAVY SCORING FEATURED THE LEAGUE SOCCER PROGRAMME YESTERDAY, NO FEWER THAN 55 GOALS BEING SCORED IN THE THIRTEEN GAMES, AND ELEVEN OF THE THIRTEEN TEAMS FAILED TO SCORE!

THE RADIO, WHO HAVE STAGED A MAGNIFICENT RALLY IN THEIR LAST SIX THIRD DIVISION FIXTURES, CAUSED THE BIGGEST SURPRISE OF THE AFTERNOON WHEN THEY DEFEATED ST. JOSEPH'S BY THE AID OF TWO PENALTIES. IT NOW LOOKS AS IF THE SAINTS' HOPES OF WINNING THE CHAMPIONSHIP ARE COMPLETELY SHATTERED.

The Borderers registered wins in all three leagues, totalling 17 goals without reply, while the Recreio lost both their games by big margins. The Navy, fielding a comparatively new side in their premier league game against the Police, lost by a single goal, but their forwards defeated South China.

There was one serious accident during the afternoon, Robertson, the Navy left half, sustaining a broken arm in the game against the Police.

First Division.

JONES SCORES THREE FOR BORDERERS.

Club Outplayed.

After a promising opening the Club cracked up badly on their own ground at Happy Valley to lose to the Borderers by five clear goals.

The Borderers were much too quick for their opponents. Their combined forward movements, aided by the excellent play of their halves, kept the play in the Club half for three parts of the game. In the second half their forwards indulged in shooting practice. They badly needed the practice for the score should have been doubled.

The most noticeable difference between the two teams was the team work of the Borderers and the individual efforts by the Club players.

S. Strange was below form, although he made some very good clearances. Martin was often wild under pressure. Rodgers brought off many fine saves though he was favoured by luck, the ball hitting him on the legs on two or three occasions. "Andy" Duncan was kept busy trying to stop a good wing in Harris and Pallister, but he did not produce his true form. Boyd in the centre was beaten by the Borderers inside men, and Skinner found Duncan altogether too speedy. The Club forwards on the whole were a poor lot, E. Strange spoiling good work by being selfish, and Watson in the centre being too well held by Podmore.

Johnson was well covered by a splendid pair of backs in Mullane and Morrison, neither of whom put a foot wrong. The Borderers halves were the dominating factor in the game. Podmore was outstanding and played brilliantly. Morgan and Lakeman being also strong in both attack and defence.

Duncan was the better of the two wingers, being given some splendid passes by Jones, who crowned a good afternoon's work by scoring three good goals. Davies led the line well and Harris and Pallister combined well to give Duncan and Strange a busy time.

The Club were the first to attack and Johnson made three good saves from Dominy and Watson. Duncan was sent away by Podmore and Jones took his pass in his stride and bent Rodgers with a good shot. After this reverse, the Club went to pieces and the Borderers had all the play. Davies went close with a header and then from a pass by Harris Jones gathered the ball to score the second from close in.

RECREIO FAIL TO HOLD ARTILLERY.

Ten Men Win 6-0.

At King's Park the Artillery, who played only ten men, scored six times without reply against the Recreio.

Pardoe and Allan, Interceptors, played well, and were largely responsible for the Gunners' victory. The former through his well-placed passes and fine tackling, the latter through his fine clearances. Pardoe had to do the work of the missing Collier, and Allan backed him up splendidly. Seal, their intercept forward, played to his usual standard, his centres being placed accurately.

The Gunners were the first to settle down, Pardoe sending Seal away with a well placed pass, for the latter to send in a centre for Rogers to nip in to open the scoring. Suffolk, a newcomer, in the Gunners' team, played good football, and within a few minutes of the opening goal, he centred for Moore to make no mistake. The Gunners continued to have most of the play and increased their lead, when Marques fumbled to let Seal through. Before the interval a splendid centre from Suffolk saw Moore bring the score to four.

The Recreio made a change in their team in the second half. Marques and Ogley changing positions, but it did not prove for the better. Rogers, playing inspired football, culminated a solo effort by beating Marques with a well-placed drive.

Marques played brilliantly and brought off some fine saves from Gough Rogers and Moore. Seal was responsible for the Gunners' last goal, his centre swerving into the net.

Recreio:—Ogley; Marques, Silva, Neller, D'Assumpcao, Eguero, Oliveira, Gomes, Gutierrez, F. Santos, J. Santos and Ribeiro.

Artillery:—Comby; Allan, Taylor; Pardoe, Harris; Suffolk, Rogers, Gough, Moore and Seal.

Second Division.

AU PING-MING SCORES TWICE FOR EWO.

Had they taken advantage of their scoring opportunities the Club would at least have earned a point against Ewo but their forwards failed and they lost by the odd goal in three.

The Chinese attacked rarely but their forwards combined so well that whenever they were in the Club half they were dangerous and caused Foggall to bring off some smart saves.

The Club defenders played well with Ralston the better of the two backs and Panchon outstanding at half. Low was too slow in the centre and missed many good opportunities with Farrow playing well on the wing.

For Ewo, To Ho-hang was prominent at half with Au Ping-ming the best forward.

From a breakaway in the first half Ewo forced a corner, which was well placed, and Au Ping-ming scored with a good shot. A few minutes later Ewo went further ahead through Au Ping-ming after good play on the right.

In the second half the Club attacked continuously, and Bell scored after a free kick had only been partially saved by Lim Yin-tung.

Club:—Fogwell; Ralston, Sloan; McKeller, Panchon, Potoloff, Krilovski, Bell, Low, Hooper and Farrow.

Ewo:—Lim Yin-tung; Ng Fook-hing, Wong Che-pun; To Ho-hang, Lai Tat-chow, H. C. To; Ho Yin-tin, Tong Teng-kan, Au Kim-fung, Au Kim-fung, Au Ping-ming and Lui Hong-ye.

ARTILLERY BEAT SCRATCH EASTERN SIDE.

At Sookunpoo the Artillery easily accounted for a weak Eastern by seven clear goals.

Tempera became ruffled during the game and the referee, Mr. Ip Kau-ko, having to take a Gunner's name.

Hardy was the most consistent forward and was ably backed up by Snook. The Gunners' defence proved shaky, but they managed to keep their citadel intact.

Hardy (2), Snook and Leach scored in the first half, while Hardy, Wroe and Birmingham scored after the break.

Artillery:—Holmes; Leadbeater, Gibbons, Hughes, Wroe, McDonald; Snook, Hardy, Hopkins, Leach and Birmingham.

Eastern:—Sze Po-wai; Luk Fook-wah, Fung Yul-wing; Leung Hung-king, Cheung Hui-nay, L. C. Wong, Tang Kwok-fu, Ng Yung-ki, Li Bing-tong, Chan Ho-ko and Lau Hai-man.

PARSONS GIVES NAVY THE POINTS.

The Navy proved too strong for a weak South China team at Caroline Hill, and won by a goal to nil after enjoying the majority of the play.

Without their brilliant leader, Pau Ka-ying, the Chinese gave a disappointing display and were fortunate to hold their opponents to only one goal, scored by Parsons late in the first half. Tam Shek-hing, in goal, was the most prominent Chinese player.

Parsons was the outstanding forward in the Navy line, but he was poorly supported. Denton also shined well, but the inside trio were weak. Blair played a good hard game, but many of the openings he made were spoiled by the wild shooting of the inside forwards.

KOWLOON BEATEN BY ONE GOAL.

Kowloon, who finished a strong team, were unlucky to lose both points to the Lincolns at Chatham Road in a very evenly contested match, by the only goal scored.

Brennan, who replaced Hocquard at outside-left, played well with his inside 'man, while P. McGuinness was always dangerous in possession. Nolems for Kowloon was the outstanding forward but was well looked after by the opposing centre-half.

After a goalless first-half the Lincolns attacked heavily, and eventually their persistence was rewarded when P. McGuinness struck the up-right to head in from the rebound.

Lincolns:—Deacon; Roden, Colclough, Maughan, Worrall, Wildy; Clayton, Barnes, P. McGuinness, P. J. McGuinness and Brennan.

Kowloon:—Willis; White G., Cook; Tilley, Benwell, White V., Davis, Nicholls, Nolems, Phillips and Smith.

BORDERERS RUN RIOT AT THE VALLEY.

The Borderers enjoyed an easy victory at Happy Valley where they defeated Taung Tsin by eleven clear goals.

At no period of the game were the Borderers ever extended and they seemed to score at will.

Ah Wai-chan and Yung Chi-chang defended well for the Chinese, but Chan Sul-po was very weak in goal.

Marshall and Matthias scored in the first half and Morris (2), Matthias (2), and Wallace scored in the second half.

Taung Tsin:—Chan Sul-po; Ah Wai-chan, Yung Chi-chang; Chan Poon-king, Kwan Tak-po, Ma Pak-mau; Lui Wah-tai, Tung Ho-hing, Mak Yin-sang, Fung Mok-choi and Tse Shun-ye.

Borderers:—Williams; Suter, Mountford; Court, Bebbington, Wallace; Pritchard, Marshall, Hamblin, Morris and Matthias.

Chung Fat-lam, Chan Wing-lai; Ip King-shing, Sin Ping-shun, G. Tung; To Wai-hing, Ng Po-kin, Kam Chul-lam, Chan Wing-kan, Wing Kim-shing.

Navy:—Woodman, Buchanan, Newman; Martin, Blair, Partington; Barton, Chadwick, Sayer, Murrel and Parsons.

Third Division.

ATHLETIC WELL BEATEN.

At Sookunpoo the Service Corps, the hotter team throughout, accounted for the Athletic by six clear goals. In the first period Lazenby and Hay netted, and Lazenby claimed another three and Sands netted the remaining point in the second half.

VARSITY BEAT TAIKOO.

The Varsity and Taikoo, two lowly placed teams, met at Happy Valley in a poor game which the Varsity won 3 goals to 1.

Crossing over with a goal lead scored by Wong, the Varsity added two further goals through Wong and Law. Choo Fook-yin scored for Taikoo.

LINCOLNS SWAMP RECREIO.

The Lincolns easily routed the Recreio by seven clear goals at King's Park after scoring six times in the first half.

Clements (2), Davies (2), Bradley, Clarke and Tate were the scorers.

RADIO HAVE 2 PENALTIES.

Two penalties, one in each half, were converted by Aycock to give the Radio a surprise victory over St. Joseph's at the Valley. The Saints have now very little chance of carrying off championship against the Borderers and the Lincolns.

SOUTH CHINA UNLUCKY.

A splendidly fought game at Happy Valley saw the Borderers fortunate to take both points from South China by a single goal scored early in the second half by Hazelwood.

Both sides missed numerous chances to score with the play of the end to end variety.

C.B.A. Hold "Y" To Goalless Draw

Surprise Caer Clark Cup Result

ST. ANDREW'S DEFEAT RECREIO

THE C.B.A. LADIES secured their first point in the Caer Clark Cup hockey competition yesterday when they very surprisingly held the "Y" Ladies to a goalless draw. It was a very creditable performance and a fitting reward for weeks of hard practice.

In the other Cup game St. Andrew's recovered their true form and defeated the Recreio by 3 goals to 1 in a convincing manner. The setback received by the "Y" will in all probability give the Saints the Southern Cup, for runners-up, for the second year in succession.

Following their poor display against the "Y" Ladies last weekend, the St. Andrew's Club Ladies staged a welcome return to form at King's Park yesterday afternoon, when they defeated the Club de Recreio Ladies by 3 goals to 1 in a fast game.

The Saints were prominent for better passing, but their forwards have yet to be quicker in shooting instead of waiting for an opportunity, as they did on many occasions yesterday.

E. Xavier, at right half back for the Recreio, was the outstanding player on the field. Her play in defence was a feature of the game.
Time and again she checked the Saints forwards, and was responsible for breaking up numerous promising moves.

P. GITTINS'S FAULT.

Commencing on the offensive, the Saints indulged in neat long passing, their forwards spreading out more than usual. P. M. Lee put in some good work, and her contribution with M. Chan was good.

P. Gittins was inclined to take the ball down too far before concentrating, consequently losing many good chances. Accepting a pass from the left, M. Woolley scored to give the Saints the lead. At this stage the Recreio defence was holding out well, M. Alves putting in sterling work. The Recreio movement saw C. Silva beat J. Bryson with a fine shot. With the score equal, the Saints continued to press, and eventually P. Gittins found the net to place them ahead.

Shortly after, however, M. Woolley went through to net the Saints third goal.

At the commencement of the second half, the Recreio changed their goalkeeper; B. Remedios, who had been playing on the right wing, went between the sticks. M. Basto returning to her normal position at back, while E. Rosario was transferred to the right wing. The change was for the better, although both backs had a considerable amount of work to do in frustrating
the Saints' attacks.

TWO SHOTS HIT POST.

Time and again a good centre from M. Chan was wasted, while
M. Churn missed two glorious chances to score by hanging on to the ball too long. P. Gittins went close to scoring shortly after, and sent in a shot that struck the post and rebounded into play. M.
Woolley suffered a similar misfortune after a fine solo run down the centre of the field. In this half, the Recreio seldom attacked G.
White, M. White and P. Woolley playing soundly in the Saints defence. M. Remedios, on the Recreio left wing, was responsible for some bright play.

St. Andrew's Ladies: J. Bryson; G.
A. White, P. Woolley; I. L. Woolley,
M. Lee, M. Bryson; M. Chan, E. M.
Lee, M. Woolley, M. Churn, P. Gittins.
Recreio Ladies: B. Remedios; C.
Osmund, M. Basto; E. Xavier, M.
Alves, H. Gutierrez; E. Rosario, C.
Silva, O. Ribeiro, A. Alves, M. Remedios.

WEAKENED "Y" TEAM SURPRISED.

A. E. E. Steele Plays Fine Game.

Another big surprise in the Caer
Clark Cup competition, was recorded at King's Park when the C.B.A.
Ladies secured their first point by holding the "Y" Ladies to a goalless draw in a very creditable manner.

On the first occasion that they met the "Y" Ladies won by six clear goals. The "Y" were, however, below strength yesterday, fielding two reserves in their forward line in G. Lakeman and M.
Griffiths, but this does not in any way detract from the splendid play of the C.B.A. They have improved beyond all recognition after weeks of hard practice, and their creditable display is very gratifying.

SUCCESSFUL CHANGES.

Positional changes in the C.B.A. team proved successful, a feature of which was the splendid way in which A. E. E. Steele, playing at right half back, marked O. Brown, the speedy "Y" left wing. On several occasions, the C.B.A. forced corners, but they were unable to score. The "Y" launched attack after attack, and at the end of the first half, S. Dalziel missed two shots.

Play was of a ding-dong nature in the second half with the C.B.A. pressing. The "Y" forwards failed to combine and D. Dalziel's centres were well intercepted by H. Ambrose, who played a hard game. The C.B.A. forwards showed better understanding, but were inclined still to be slow.

C.B.A. Ladies: K. Fisher; M. Whitley, M. N. Hudson; A. E. E. Steele, J.
Beavis, H. Ambrose; G. MacNider, D.
Smith, M. Smith, E. Carroll, E. S.
Woolley.

"Y" Ladies: L. Carr; M. Portillon,
A. Fowler; M. Gardiner, M. M. Mason,
B. Blumenthal; O. Dalziel, G. Lake-man, S. Dalziel, M. Griffiths, O. Brown.

MOTORCAR'S "SCHOOLGIRL COMPLEXION"

Finished To Prevent Sunburn.

NEW OIL DISCOVERY.

Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.
A new oil said to protect car finishes from sunburn, their worst enemy, has been invented in the chemistry department of Lehigh University.

Car finishes become "sunburned" in ultraviolet rays of sunshine just as an unprotected human skin does.
Two or three years, often in the form of build lustre and cracks beneath the surface.

The sunburn effect has been traced to a gum in the finish which absorbed ultra-violet rays so much that it can be seen to grow with a bluish fluorescence.

This glow is ultra-violet light energy working in the ester gum and attacking one molecule at a time with explosive results.

The newly invented substance is a synthetic product made from linseed oil. It has been substituted for the ester gums used in motorcar finishes.—Reuter.

Exactng Qualifications

The University of Illinois is seeking one student who, with other qualifications, is 100 per cent "moral" and 100 per cent cheerful.

Such a person is desired to participate in a $16,000 scholarship fund provided for in the will of Mr. Wensel Morava, a consulting engineer who died recently, leaving an estate of 500,000 ($100,

Other qualifications for the scholarship student by the terms of the will, are that he (preference is

$500,000,000 TO AID JOBLESS IN AMERICA

Two Year Programme
To Be Submitted.

ROOSEVELT SYMPATHETIC WITH RELIEF PROPOSALS.

Washington.
A two year programme calling for an outlay of $500,000,000 to aid unemployment will be placed before the Senate soon with the approval of the manufacturers committee.

Proponents of the measure believe it accords with the views of President-elect Roosevelt, who has been devoting much time before his inauguration to the problem.

The relief programme combines the Lafollette and Costigan bills and the measure of Senator Bronson. Cutting for a $15,000,000 federal fund to be advanced to the states, to enable them to take care of transients.

Senator Edward P. Costigan, Colorado Democrat, sponsored bills in the present Congress calling for outlays of $500,000,000 and $375, 000,000 respectively for relief but they made little progress.

No such relief programme as proposed is expected to meet with the approval of the present Congress, but it will be in shape for consideration by the now Seventy-third Congress at its expected special session in April.

be a Czech Slovakian, whose health is 85 to 90 per cent perfect, physically 95 to 100 per cent, and self-application is 95 to 100 per cent.

The $16,000 fund is to be used by the University, the will provides, as a "Big Brother" fund for one student each year.

Another bequest was $200 to another Czech Slovakian of Chicago, to represent interest and principal on a $3 loan which his father made to the testator 54 years ago

CHINA'S DISPUTE WITH MACAO.

Friction Over Island Rights.

Canton, Yesterday.
Considerable friction still exists between the Chungshan district administration and the Macao Government over Wang Chin Island. The latest incident is the prevention by the Portuguese authorities of Chinese from mining stones and granite from a quarry on the island.

The work is undertaken by the Principal Department of Reconstruction, but the miners were driven away by the Portuguese troops. Wang Chin Island is within the limit of Chungshan district, though it is near Macao.

It is said that the Provincial Government will take drastic steps to deal with the Portuguese encroachment on Chinese territory.—

FILM KIDDIES HAVE BEST MINDS.

Adult Influence Responsible.

Los Angeles, California.
Juvenile film actors are 5 per cent ahead of school children who do not work in films, says a supervisor of working children's interests of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Even though their education is interrupted many times during the year, he says, some of the 2,000 children employed in the motion picture industry are 20 per cent further advanced than those who are not actors.

"It is not the acting that sharpens the child's mind," he says,
"but the contact with the people and things of mature life, particularly such a volatile and active life as that found in a film studio."—

Italy Hit By Ottawa Agreements

$4,750,000 Loss Yearly To Export Trade.

REPRISALS POSSIBLE.

Rome.
Damage to Italian exporters to the extent of over 300,000,000 lire (about $4,750,000) annually will be caused by the Ottawa agreements.

This statement was made by Signor Casanini, President of the National Exports Institute, at the general meeting of the Institute at which Signor Mussolini was present.

In addition, he added, the closing of potential future markets in the British Empire would do untold damage to Italian trade in the years to come.

"Ottawa," he exclaimed, "is the last blow to the most-favoured-nation clause."

Signor Casanini hinted at the possibility of reprisals by Italy.
"Such action would be the more regrettable in that we would be directing it against States towards which our friendship is traditional.
But in the hard struggle of economic competition as waged in the world to-day we have learned that only when we meet force with force, in the Fascist manner, can we secure consideration for our legitimate interests."

Signor Casanini said that serious damage had been done to Italian textile exports by the rapid increase in competition from Japan, not only in Asiatic but also in African and Latin, even in European markets.

At the same time he claimed that the future for Italian trade was a bright one.
The speech was greeted with loud applause, in which Signor Mussolini joined.—Reuter.

SEARCHING THE WORLD FOR STAMPS

Americans Seek Rare
"Air - Mails."

FINEST COLLECTION NEARS COMPLETION.

Albany, (N.Y.).
Twelve-year-old Georgia Mc-Donald and her grandfather, Dr.
George S. Munson, are searching the world over for a few rare stamps needed to complete one of the finest collections of air-mail stamps known to philatelists.

They recently toured the little known stamp marts of central and South America and are just back from Colombia with their latest prize, a curious Zeppelin trans-Atlantic air-mail stamp with an inverted surcharge. "Its the inverted surcharge that makes it valuable," Georgia pointed out "there are only 25 of them in existence."

Georgia's album has 4,000 stamps and its value runs into thousands of dollars.

"We are trying to find two rare Newfoundland stamps," she said.
"One is the 3 cents red-brown Hawker trans-Atlantic stamp of 1919.
The other is the stamp of Francesco do Pinado's attempted flight to Rome in 1927."
